CURRICULUM

Students will explore the farm through interactive stations, led by our awesome instructors. With fun STEM activities and a chance to get their hands dirty, they'll discover the exciting world of growing their own food. It's learning, farming, and fun all rolled into one!

ABOUT US

We are a U-pick farm located in Albuquerque's North Valley.

Our mission is to offer visitors educational experiences that celebrate New Mexico's agricultural heritage and traditions.

FARM STATIONS

SEEDS

Learn how plants begin their life! Explore germination, try planting your own seeds, and discover how water conservation, organic farming methods, and pollinators all play a role in helping plants grow.

SOIL

Dig into the importance of healthy soil. Experiment with composting, explore regenerative farming, and see how organic farming keeps our food and environment healthy.

WATER

Find out why water is precious, especially in the desert. Discover how farmers use irrigation and practice water conservation to make every drop count.

HARVESTING

It's time to enjoy the fruits (and veggies!) of your labor. Learn how to pick vegetables the right way and understand how harvesting closes the loop in farming.

BEEKEEPING

Step into the world of bees! See how they help pollinate plants, make honey and find out why bees are essential to farming and the environment.

PLUS, PUMPKIN PATCH, FARM ANIMALS, AND MORE!
