Peripartum Cardiomyopathy- PPCM

The Cure "Early diagnosis saves lives"

PPCM is a pregnancy induced heart failure that doesn't peak until the new mom gives birth & in too many cases results in misdiagnosis & being untreated which leads to unnecessary suffering or deaths. PPCM can be prevented during pregnancy. Surprisingly, most medical communities & people we have encountered are unaware of this curable pregnancy disease. We are raising the standard testings that should already be mandatory by implementing proper screenings & blood labs for all pregnancies. With fluid comes infection, causing the heart to become weakened or enlarged. No healthy woman, globally, needs to suffer or die & no baby needs to be motherless from PPCM.
