- Use full, legal names when naming your beneficiaries (for example, Susan G. Larsen, not Mrs. Jerome H. Larsen or Robert M. Carter not Bob Carter).
- Fill out the form in ballpoint pen (preferably black) NOT pencil.
- Make sure the total percentages for all primary beneficiaries equal 100%.
- Make sure the total percentages for all secondary beneficiaries equal 100%.
- Make sure your spouse signs and dates the beneficiary form IF they are not listed as 100% primary beneficiary.
- List the relationship as “other” if you list a beneficiary that is not a person (e.g., charitable organization or trust).
- If more space is needed to list your beneficiaries attach a separate sheet of paper to this form and indicate for each additional beneficiary, whether they are a primary or secondary beneficiary along with the beneficiary’s name, relationship, date of birth, and the percentage of proceeds they should receive. You must also sign and date the separate sheet.
- Retain a copy of your completed beneficiary designation form for your records.
- Do not name the same person(s) as both primary and secondary beneficiary.
- Do not name yourself as a beneficiary.

Frequently Asked Questions

What if I don't name a beneficiary for my life insurance?

Naming a beneficiary(ies) provides a better experience for your loved ones and helps to ensure that benefits will be paid according to your wishes. If you do not name a beneficiary, benefits will be paid to the members of your first surviving class according to the Group Life Certificate of Coverage. This means your legal spouse will be paid as the first person listed in the order. If there is no spouse the benefit will be paid in equal shares to your surviving children; if none, then to your parents; if none, then to your brothers and sisters; if none, then to your estate. The same process would be followed if your designated beneficiary is no longer living at the time of your death.

What is a primary beneficiary?

A primary beneficiary is the first person(s) you choose to receive your life insurance benefits. Please specify the percentage of the benefit you want paid to each primary beneficiary; these percentages should total 100%.

What is a secondary beneficiary?

A secondary beneficiary is the person(s) you name to receive your life insurance benefit if your primary beneficiary is no longer living at the time of your death. Please specify the percentage of the benefit you want paid to each primary beneficiary; these percentages should total 100%.

Can I name a minor child as a beneficiary?

You may name a minor child as a beneficiary. However, we cannot make payment of benefits directly to a minor. Any payment to a minor beneficiary shall be made to the legally appointed guardian of the estate or conservator of the minor, unless otherwise permitted by law. Please consult with an estate planning professional before naming a minor child as a beneficiary.

How do I name a charitable organization as a beneficiary?

A charitable organization may be named as a beneficiary. You will need to indicate under primary or secondary beneficiary the name of the charitable organization, a contact for the organization, the organization's tax identification number, and the percentage of the benefits that would be payable to them.

How do I name my estate as the beneficiary?

You may name your estate as a beneficiary. To name your estate as the beneficiary indicate "My Estate" as the beneficiary under primary or secondary beneficiary. If you know who the executor or administrator of your estate will be, you should also include that person's name. For example: My Estate, John Doe Executor.

How do I name a trust as the beneficiary?

You may designate as trust a beneficiary. To name a trust as a beneficiary, indicate the name of the trust and trust agreement date. If the trust has a tax identification number, the ID number should be provided.

How often can I change my beneficiary?
