

Data integration plays a key role in the development of your data strategy

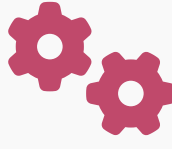

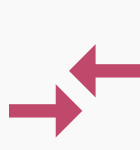

Adaptive interface, data consolidation and secure information exchange through APIs and customized flows.

Our Retail B2B solution facilitates the exchange of information between companies through a graphical interface adaptable to customer needs. It allows you to read and consolidate data from multiple sources and share it efficiently through predefined and parameterizable flows, as well as through an API portal for direct queries. In addition, it includes a document section for secure file exchange, with customized approval flows.
