

Backyard Cold War

---

Davis's Second Term

---

THE LOGLINE

President Davis seeks revenge against every drug cartel in the western hemisphere for his second son's fentanyl overdose.

Texas Senator Felix Sanchez also loses someone he cares deeply about to fentanyl.... And creates a bond with President Mike Davis. He sees the President of the United States as his greatest ally, his most important asset, perhaps, his most powerful tool for his great gambit. Felix is focused on restoring Mexico's sovereignty from the drug cartels with the help of his love interest, Ex-CIA Agent Catherine Castillo.... Only to discover America's sovereignty hangs in the balance too.

The U.S. plans invasions of Cuba, Mexico, Columbia, and Venezuela....

- Takes back control of the Panama Canal
- Enlarges the military base at Guantanamo
- Establishes a massive military base in Costa Rica

- Felix and Catherine having been subjected to his betrayal, take on the President of the United States in the most unexpected of ways.

- The President also partners with Dmitry Melnikoff and makes the greatest Cuban real estate investment in Gambling Casinos and Resorts our country has made since the Louisiana Purchase, while annexing Cuba to the state of Florida!
- The President then:
- Deploys black budget domestic assigation teams targeting U.S. gangs leaders dealing drugs
- Deports millions of illegal immigrants from the U.S.
- Legalizes drugs in the United States

---

THE CHARACTERS

---

TEXAS SENATOR FELIX SANCHEZ

---

- Felix, Senator of Texas, is a decent, honest and down-to-earth man. A savvy well-connected politician knows how to get what he wants. Born in San Luis Potosi, Mexico his family moved to Dallas, Texas at age twelve, where his father, an honorable and devoted family man, put up a small hardware store.
- Frank carries out his own secret operations south of the Texas border in a revenge filled rage over the fentanyl overdose death of his best friend, blowing up Mexican cartel drug labs. Frank is determined to honor Mexico's decades long fight for freedom in his father's memory.
- Haunted by his decision to abort his first child he feels unworthy of fatherhood, until he meets Catherine who convinces him otherwise. Together the couple sets out to have a family of their own, only to discover the politics of the day, stand in their way. Love of country and love of family force the couple to attempt the unspeakable.

EX-CIA AGENT CATHERINE CASTILLO

---

Catherine Castillo, a strong, brilliant woman, and an Ex-CIA Agent, is responsible for developing and executing with Felix, her plan to restore Mexico's sovereignty in honor of her great grandfather who lost his leg in the Mexican revolution of 1910. Her unexpected, early departure from the CIA is the result of Catherine feeling responsible for the death of a fellow agent she worked with on Drug Op in Columbia and Venezuela. Her guilt driven trauma results in her attempted suicide, addiction to drugs, and alcohol. Eventually she recovers after years of intensive therapy, and starts a small private security firm in Houston, meets, and falls in love with Felix. A future mother she is deeply concerned about the world her children will grow up in. At the end of the story this strong female lead emerges as the hero, when she attempts the impossible in a desperate attempt, to satisfy her need to feel vindicated, and once again find her place in the world.

---

THE SETTING

---

A stunning visual tour of the White House, Texas, Mexico, Cuba, Costa Rica, Columbia, and Venezuela. The film starts in Washington D.C. at the Presidential Inauguration Ceremony held inside the capitol building due to freezing temperatures, and moves south to Texas, and the U.S., Mexican border, a beehive of cartel drug activity.

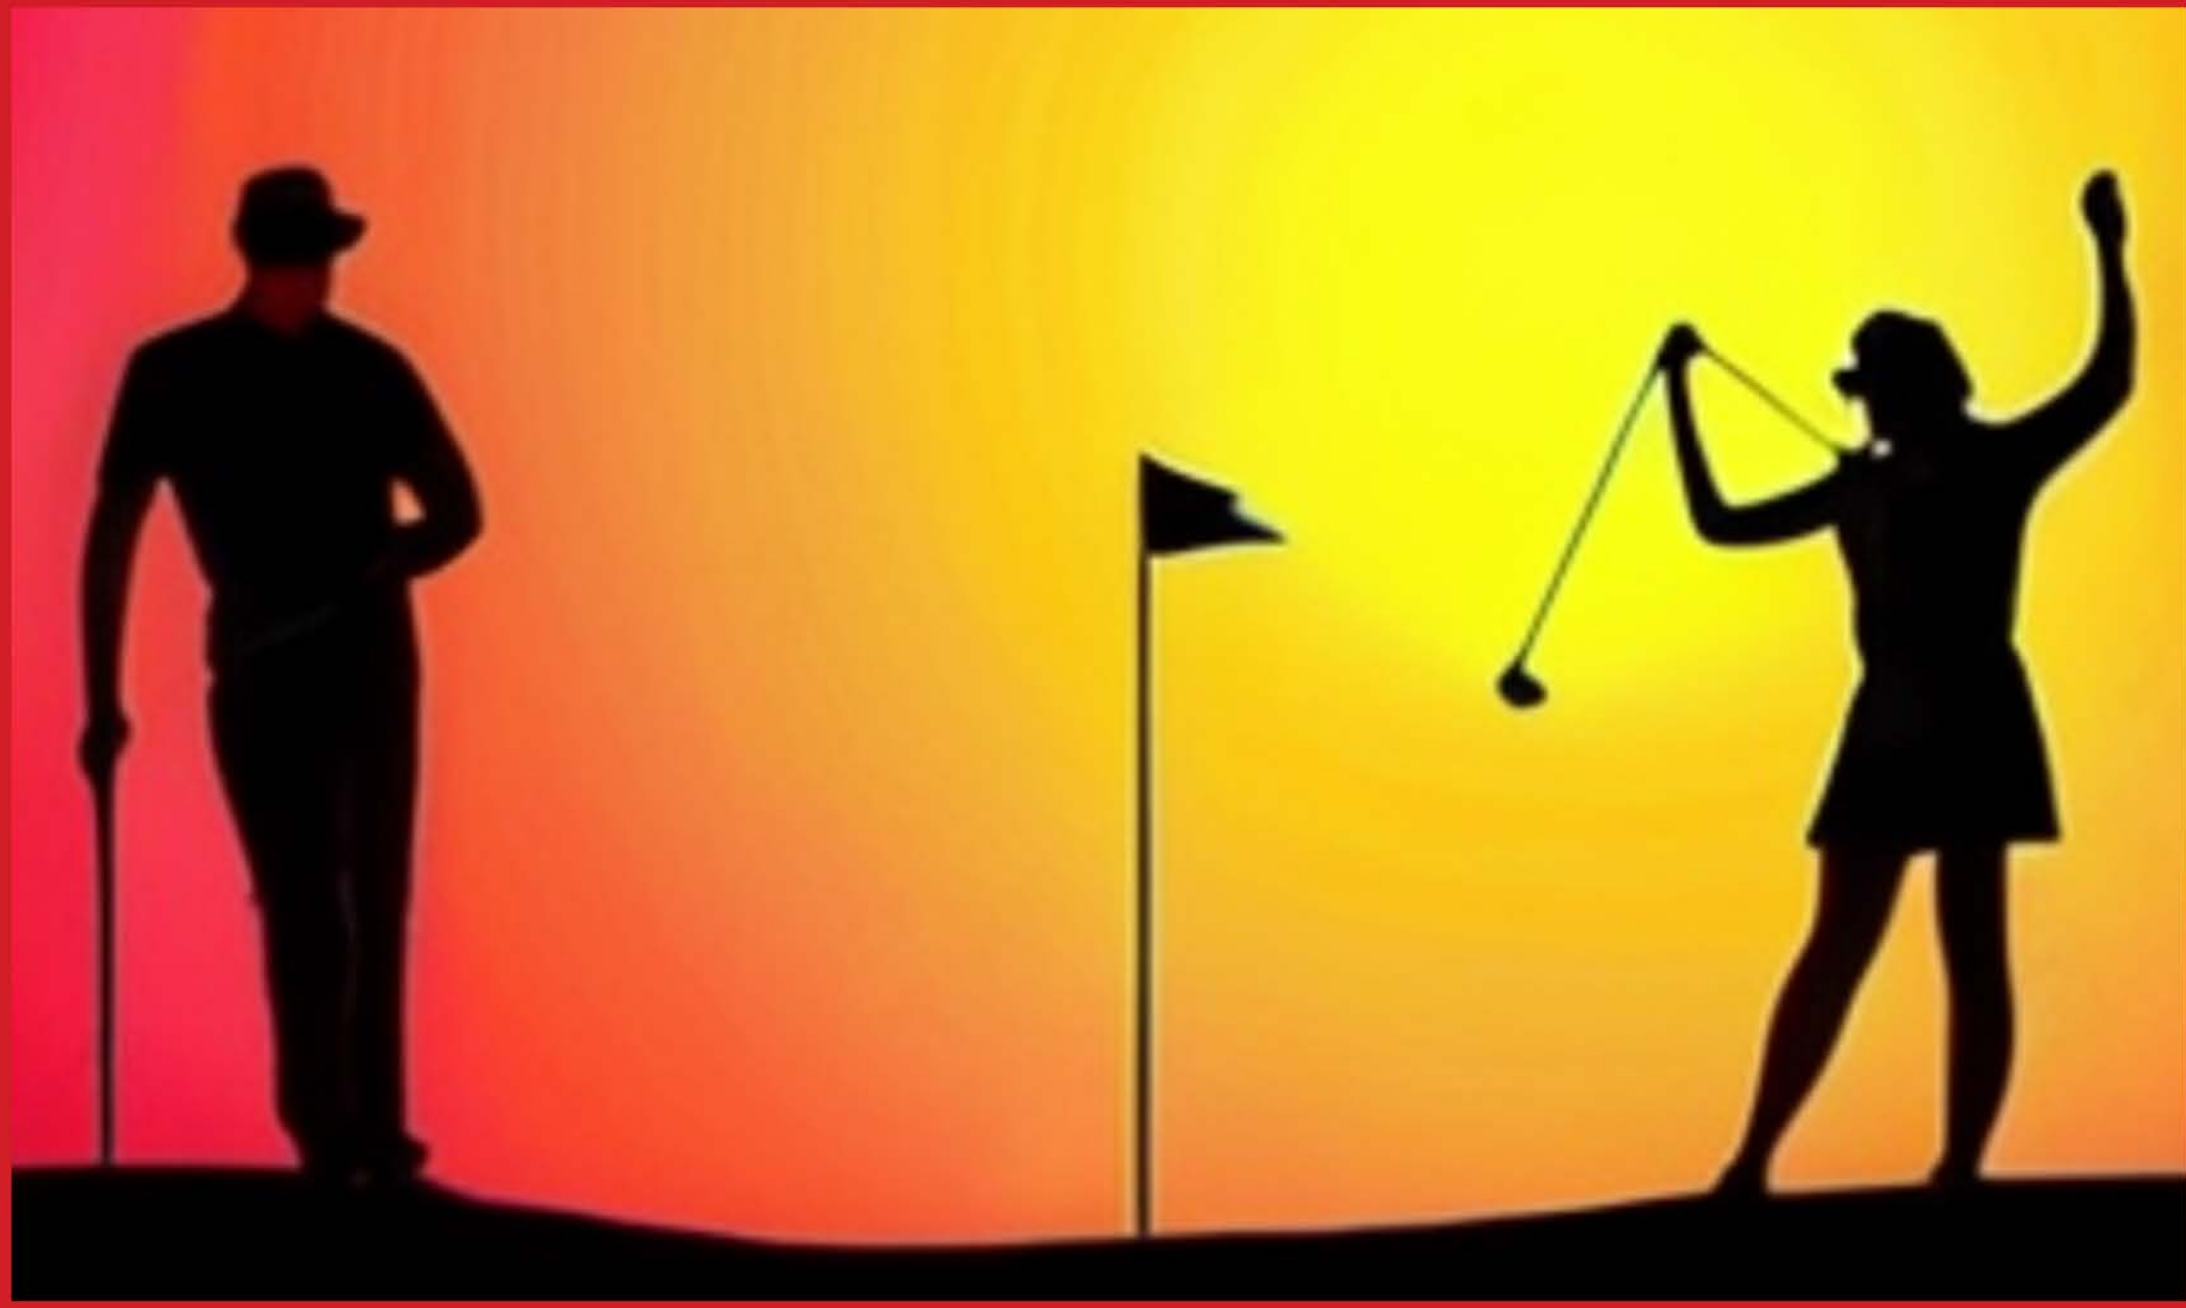

As the happy couple of Mexican decent vacations in Zihuatanejo, and Puerto Vallarta Mexico, Catherine hatches a plan to free the Mexican people from the death grip of the drug cartels. The natural beauty of Mexico and Latin America serves as a back drop to the couple's audacious plan.

At the end of the story Felix proposes marriage to Catherine in Cancun, they marry in Mexico City, and honeymoon in San Luis Potosi. They newlyweds are anxious to start their family until news of an incomprehensible event occurring in the White House changes everything.

MOOD BOARD

MOOD BOARD

MOOD BOARD

MOOD BOARD

---

THE AUTHORS STATEMENT

---

The potential U.S. invasion of Cuba due to national security concerns, has been an issue faced by President Kennedy, and beyond, and still lingers today with added concerns regarding illegal drugs entering the U.S. Ending the war on drugs is something all U.S. Presidents in recent memory have given lip service to. And still today, America's President is the only Commander and Chief that possess the where-with-all to complete such a bold mission as winning the war on drugs.

Originally, legitimate Fentanyl was a miracle pain killer for cancer patients. The Fentanyl crisis has resulted in the death of 70,000 Americans every year with no end in sight. 100,000 Americans died from Fentanyl in 2020 alone. 195 Americans overdose from Fentanyl every day, most from one pill, or in too many cases, just a half of pill. It is the leading cause of death in younger Americans.

The Fentanyl crisis cost to U.S. taxpayers is one trillion dollars annually.

Backyard Cold War, Davis's Second Term is a fictional story that helps unite America's Presidential supporters and non-supporters alike. Our compelling fictional story is about our President's second term consumed with his revenge against every drug cartel in the western hemisphere. Today's polling makes clear that all American's are concerned about fentanyl, and other illegal drugs entering our country. Crime and illegal immigration are also top of mind.

In his first term, America's President considered launching missiles from U.S. territory into Mexican Drug Cartel strongholds, but U.S. military brass wouldn't permit it. America's President also supported an attempted, and failed coup forcing a change in leadership in Venezuela. America's President's has openly shared his disdain for Venezuela's President Maduro, who most recently appeared yet again in the news, regarding his latest, considered by many observers, fraudulent election.

America's President has recently threatened U.S. military intervention, in the event America is denied it's re-taking control over the Panama Canal. Panama, Columbia, and Venezuela at one time were one country, consequently their ties are stronger today than ever. Some have questioned whether colonialism has reared its ugly head as a part of America's modern-day agenda aimed at stopping the flow of illegal drugs into the United States of America. They argue this modern-day type of colonialism in the name of national security, and winning the war on drugs, is but a ruse.

Yet, others suggest the end game is for America to illegally seize an unlimited supply of oil, along with rare minerals potentially buried deep in the mountainsides of Columbia and Venezuela used in cell phone chip making. Still others question if have today's politics have influenced the technology, oil and gas private sectors, or is it the other way around? The decisions America's elected leaders are forced to make are often times difficult ones. That said, every day we don't win the war on drugs another 195 Americans overdose from Fentanyl alone.

What will the next four years look like? Sometimes truth is stranger than fiction.

?