

TRIUMPH EXPOSITION AT THE PHILADELPHIA AUTO SHOW

A friend of the club, Dave Hutchison, has put together an all Triumph exposition showing the evolution of the marque from 1935 to 1980.

You may know Dave as the Client Advisor at Ragtops and Roadsters in Perkasié, PA.

You might also know him as a recent Director of the Delaware Valley Triumph club or from his ongoing involvement with the America's British Reliability Run for Pennsylvania in support of the Shriners Hospital For Children.

However you know Dave, this exposition is bound to be entertaining, interesting, educational and most of all, FUN for Triumph enthusiasts.

The Triumph exposition opens to the public on January 31st and closes on February 8th. It's located in the Grand Hall right above Jefferson Station. SEPTA is the easiest way in and out.

The Triumph exposition is part of the Philadelphia Auto Show which takes place at the Pennsylvania Convention Center on Arch Street.
