*It is not known what is looming in the distance but it is watched for with anticipation—suspense—apprehension—anxiety—amusement.
Beguiling our time with the absurd and serious
we are coming.*

While the future waits, the present is served with our time, our thought, our concentration, our happiness.

Our immersion in the immediate sometimes staggers the present. Our labor is sometimes lost in absentmindedness . . .

But one should be happy in both the present and the future-- each in his own way.

Surprise, apathy, disbelief—follow the arrow . . .

One September, we journeyed back to school and found ourselves in the midst of the age old custom of "The Election". When we consider its history of barbarism, political armtwisting and dirty campaigning, we can remember our election with pride.

In the presidential contention between the three front runners, the Honorable Thomas Gennis, the Honorable Kenneth Steele, and the Honorable David Simons, all campaigning was done in unusually magnificent style and only occasional outbursts from awe-stricken lookers-on marred the proceedings.

Following in much the same manner, the contentions for vice-president, secretary, treasurer continued.

Later in the same week when the ballots had been counted, the drum roll begun, and the winning names flowed from the PA:

Tom Gennis—President
 Paul Crowley—Vice President
 Madeline Capasso—Treasurer
 Sylvia Strelis—Secretary

The First Gear Concert started off our senior year on a good note. We were being tested by the administration to see if we could handle an assembly—previous musical assemblies only served to produce a foreshadowing of the utter chaos that would soon pervade the school and become the subject of much controversy. First Gear was well received however, and we proved that students can be attentive when the subject is worth our attention.

Seniors of the Student Council: David Alessandroni, Madeline Capasso, Glenn Cristofori, John Gibbons, Joanne Grande, Chuck Lowder, John Matthew, Joe Petitti, Frank Pierce, Larry Prior, Joanne Rutkowski, Pat Sousa, Committee Chairmen of the Student Council: Carol Belliveau and Tom Gennis, Student Affairs Committee; Bob Bibeau and Patty Shimkas, Social Committee; Gerry Connolly and Elyn Geremonte, Cafeteria Committee; John Healy and Paul Crowley, Lounge and Maintenance Committee; and Joanne Lucas, Improvements.

Next came the Teachers' Tea at which teachers, members of the school committee, and students from the Student Council could meet and talk.

Then students and teachers got to meet some asses at the Annual Donkey Basketball Game held in November. The highlight of this year's show was the half time entertainment supplied by the boys' varsity hockey team and the girls' varsity field hockey team as they clashed in the first Annual Sweathog Memorial Street Hockey Game. A big crowd was on hand for the event and no one went home disappointed.

The Industrial Arts Building was the scene of another big turnout as three hundred AHS students showed up when the Open Campus proposal was presented to the school committee. The Student Affairs Committee worked diligently, and although tangible results were few, the council was encouraged by the unmitigated support of the student body.

The Student Council continued to work hard throughout the year, but there were some lighter moments; if you happened to walk by Room 65 any day after school, you may have heard some strange things

OFFICERS of the Student Council include Larry Ricardo, President; Susan Brooks, Vice President; Robin Faulkner, Recording Secretary; Janet Feeley; Corresponding Secretary; John Mulcahy, Treasurer.

O.K.—who clipped the gavel? ... shaving cream and perfume fights ... what are you gonna do about third period? ... why can't we have a telephone? ... the object of today's meeting is MONEY! ... Ricardo, you're a five pointer ... Patty, will you do me a favor? ... they are a bunch of SWEATHOGS! ... go ask Mr. Locke ... why us? ... First Gear and "Cool Hand Luke" ... I was going to resign, you know ... why weren't we consulted first? ... IT'S THE STUDENT COUNCIL'S FAULT!

While the Student Council brought us together on such issues as open campus, the SPIRIT CLUB worked to eliminate apathy and to instill in all of us a pride in our school.

To achieve this goal, the club decorated the school with posters, sold spirit buttons, held pep rallies before each home game, and supplied buses to the away games.

Led by the Indians who helped to stir the crowd in spirited support of the team, the members of the club were at every game to help cheer the team to victory.

The Spirit Club conquered indifference on another front and showed concern for their fellow man by organizing a large group of students in a successful drive to collect funds for the mentally retarded.

An active organization, the club also engaged in painting the cafeteria and these fun-filled days will long be remembered by those who participated.

Spirit Club was not the only organization that promoted school spirit—this year's MARCHING BAND helped to rouse cheers from many a freezing football fan as they lent their fine musical talent in support of the school. Our symphonious Spartans showed us the way as they bravely endured severe temperatures to back the team and provide the half-time entertainment.

In a somewhat more temperate environment, the CONCERT BAND rehearsed throughout the year. A lack of stringed instrument players and scheduling problems eliminated the possibility of organizing a full orchestra this year, but the organization of a Concert Band posed no problems as AHS has some of the best high school musicians in the state. During fifth period rehearsals, the Lowe Auditorium was the setting for euphony of sound that filled the air when the Concert Band made their musical harmony.

FHA officers are Norah Stiles, President; Patricia Dawson, Vice President; Debra Meece, Vice President of Recreation; Kathleen Cantrell, Secretary; Ruth Abbott, Treasurer; Marie Stephens, Reporter; Patti Jones, Historian; Elaine Bell, Parliamentarian.

The FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA dealt with a different kind of harmony in the course of their yearly activities. The overall goal of the group was to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living. In one of the most worthwhile undertakings of the year, the FHA adopted a family as the girls did all they could to bring happiness and encouragement to its members. Helping others was a rewarding experience for the girls, but they also enjoyed some lighter moments with their fun projects—the bazaars, penny sales, and bake sales.

The knowledge and experience gained through the activities of the FHA will be of invaluable assistance to the girls when they embark on their careers as homemakers.

The information and assistance offered by the FUTURE NURSES CLUB provided useful assets to those of its members who go into a career in the nursing or para-medical professions. The primary purpose of the club was to gather a group of students interested in these professions and to keep them informed relative to these fields. Speakers from Skidmore College and the Deaconess Hospital, with accompanying slide shows afforded the girls with the opportunity of taking a closer look at the behind the scenes activities of those involved in nursing and para-medical careers.

The members of the FNA are Mrs. Bergkuist, Advisor; Mary Ann Graham, President; Joan Ronan, Ann Barry, Joan Hutchins, Rachel O'Keefe, Marie Stephens, Pam D'Errico, Secretary; Karen Chapski, Treasurer, Gail McConnell, Michele Hrul, Mary Jo Uccello.

The members of the FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA CLUB also had the opportunity to become more familiar with the various aspects of their future profession as the club's activities were geared toward bringing the student to the other side of the desk. The FTA was very active as the members learned more about the teaching profession and related careers through discussions with student teachers, visits to local colleges, service as teacher aids in elementary schools and practice teaching. These activities provided the members of the FTA with valuable experience and gave them a basis by which they could judge for themselves whether or not they had what it takes to become a teacher.

The members of the FTA are Valerie D'Orlando, President; Patti Corcoran, Vice President; Judy McMillan, Recording Secretary; Patti Carlan, Corresponding Secretary; Diane Colozzi, Treasurer; Debbie Conners, Publicity Director; Jane Healy, Historian; Marie DiNitto, Robin Fitzmaurice, Deborah King, Patti Mahon, Bette Malloy, Mary Rafferty, Carol Reed, Mary Lee Sutherland, Bridget Tammaro, Linda Zdonik, Janet Oppedisano, Lynette Aznavorian, Andrea Harding, E. Sherman.

"Wanted: young people for challenging, after school job. No pay.

Requirements: patience, dedication, courage, imagination, and love. Discover the mentally retarded and perhaps yourself. Apply today."

The students who answered this ad found out what it takes to help the mentally and physically handicapped. They formed the ARLINGTON PROGRAM FOR RETARDED TEENAGERS. Organized and directed by Mickey Reed, the program began to provide companionship for mentally retarded teenagers in the town. Later on in the year, the program expanded to include teenagers with physical as well as mental handicaps. The program was renamed Teen Center II and with the help of the sponsoring VFW the members held a once a month gathering. Faculty advisor Mrs. Marzina Morin assisted the group at their monthly meetings, field trips, and fund raising activities.

Field trips and fund raising projects are an integral part of the activities of the SCIENCE CLUB also. The club raised money for its activities by staging a car wash and a bake sale. The financial burden was lessened on a continuing basis as the club sponsored a refreshment stand for those involved in the Adult Education Program. Because of the success of these programs, the Science Club was able to enjoy the fruits of their efforts by having a Christmas party (complete with entertainment by the Harmonettes) and attending the Winter Carnival at Crochet Mountain.

Eager to delve into the world of science, with firsthand experience instead of a book, the group took field trips to Plum Island and to Cape Cod where they traveled to Eastham and to the Museum of Natural History in Brewster.

The biggest club effort of the year was the recycling project. The group collected 7200 pounds of bottles and 2000 pounds of cans for recycling as they not only spoke out against pollution but did their part to put a stop to it.

The members of this year's KEY CLUB were not to be outdone by anyone. The ubiquitous improvement theme of this year's clubs did not escape the notice of the Key Club as the boys sponsored a clean-up drive of their own when they picked up litter and other waste materials from the old burial grounds.

An active group, the Key Club lived up to their motto of "Youth Serves Youth" by providing ushers for school events, collecting donations for retarded children, and by sponsoring their annual "Toys for Tots" drive.

Those ear-piercing noises coming from A-2 every other Monday afternoon, are not the tots waiting for their toys. It isn't the janitor with his transistor radio on too loud. And it isn't a burst water pipe or the coffee pot that's been boiling over since second period. No, it's none of these. It's Fin's friends better known to you as the ART CLUB. A small group of students that meet for one reason. That reason being to sling, sling, and sling.

There are usually Pleasant sounds coming from M-2, the room where you can find the Harmonettes. But if they're not singing, they're talking:

"... I want print, besides—the orange looks very Victorian ... Terry and Lynn, now remember not to sing today because Ruth's sick ... the shadow of your smile ... now, I just want to make this correction; I know I do it myself ... I can't help it girls, My father's a painter ... Susan, look out!! ... Watch dynamics ... Will you kids stop eating and sing ... Jingle Bells ..."

The girls in the Harmonettes are Valerie Becker, Eileen Balzer, Susan Ross, Mary Murray, Ruth Freedland, Lynn Harding, Robin Faulkner, Elizabeth Quigley, Linda Marchi, Jan Harding, Francine Blomquist.

The goal of both the Harmonettes and the choirs is to present a perfect blend of voice, talent, and personality to their audiences. Other groups within the school, such as the yearbook staff also attempted to present a perfect blend of talent to its audience, but did it work?

"We have created a monster . . . Confiscate and publicly burn all copies!" Undoubtedly a distinction worthy of the 1972 Indian Staff.

"Let's mimeograph three hundred more forms, the file looks depleted and it won't make a good impression that way. No, I don't care what they say . . ." Cool efficiency: "transfer Lanzillo, Mayerson, De-George and have Tsakirgis act as liason. So what if it takes more time that way."

As Chief Spector droned on, we put out a yearbook: imagery similar to Nero fiddling. "The content of a yearbook ought to be a free flowing journalistic commentary rather than a static collection of utter irrelevancy." Ah, idealism and the compromises that follow!

Tobey's indescribly beautiful flow was ruined by tokens from the age of mud, war, and corruption while Erickson's layouts were bambattered and shaken by ill-coordinated and inept suggestions. Cornelius delivered in magnificent style although on occasion, he added grain, presumably left over from breakfast, and water spots, drippings from midnight martinis. (And as a statistical note, Cornelius printed every candid in this book.) Lanzillo almost singlehandedly came through with almost 2G, much to Tobey's lament. And for once Turner finished in record time with the invaluable assistance of De-George and Tsakirgis.

What need be said about Ronan than to remark that all photography assignments were duly assigned, although occasionally a few days too late. In her role as Kissinger of the Yearbook, all trips to hostile nations were successfully carried out.

And then there is that strange Yearbook creation, the Consulting Editor. The part this year was played by Mayerson who can be discredited with many jobs expertly performed and as the Yearbook stacciano notes, with largest number of lascivious and lewd pictures.

In addition and with a round hand, Lund and his Yearbook Crime Syndicate systematically extorted enough money to keep his checkbook full. Thirty photographers took over 7000 pictures, one-sixth of which were taken over angry and sometimes physical protestations of hostile subjects. LaRocca added a feather in our cap, and a task force of DeGeorge, Tsakirgis, and Lundstrom kept all the knots tied together. Noonan, Geremonte, Rutkowski, and Kilfoyle are also to be held responsible for at least portions of this volume.

The god of money played his part by having us announce twelve distinct dates as the very last day to purchase a yearbook and the goddess of layout and mug shots had a similar hoax perpetrated to satisfy her arch desires.

We, the yearbook powers that be, thank all who willingly and unwillingly gave of themselves, their time, their creativity, and their money; it is with the help of countless, nameless persons that this book exists.

T'was the week before Christmas as DRAMA CLUB'S winter production, Harvey hit A.H.S. The cast was small in size but large in imaginative interpretation which is vital to the successful creation of a play. Harvey, the (invisible) 6½ foot tall white rabbit was the highlight of the evening as he played his inimitable self. He, along with the rest of the performers, provided entertainment to their delighted audience while gaining enjoyment for themselves from this experience in play production. Seniors contributing to the fine outcome of this play were Paul Robbins, Micky Reed, Richard Zaslaw, Suzanne Oppedisano, Paul Regan, Barbara Tsakiris, and Steve Hopkins.

The high point of the year for the Drama Club was its winning the Regional Festival with its production of "The Culture Vulture," a new adaptation of Moliere's "The Would-Be Gentleman" written by Mr. Filichia and directed by Mr. Roberts. At the festival, cast members Linda Cataldo, John Levesque, Paul Regan, Paul Robbins, and president Richard Zaslau won awards for their superior performances. Seniors Steve Hopkins, Patty Oneto, and Barbara Tsakirgis rounded out the cast.

The production of a play is a team effort, requiring hard work and co-operation from the people working on stage and behind the scenes. Corresponding Secretary Andrea Mobilia, Recording Secretary Linda Cataldo, and Historian Susan Lahaie worked with Mr. Roberts and Mr. Filichia to produce a prosperous year for the 1971-72 Drama Club.

Dramatics were ramified into a different medium this year as AHS went Hollywood with a feature length production entitled "Where Arrows Meet."

This big step in a new direction resulted in a feeling of skepticism on the part of the students, but this attitude changed when John Matthew (the man who conceived, produced, and directed the project) proved that this film was not a joke but a reality.

There are so many things that go into the making of a movie—much more than meets the eye—and it took eight months of hard work by a number of student actors and directors.

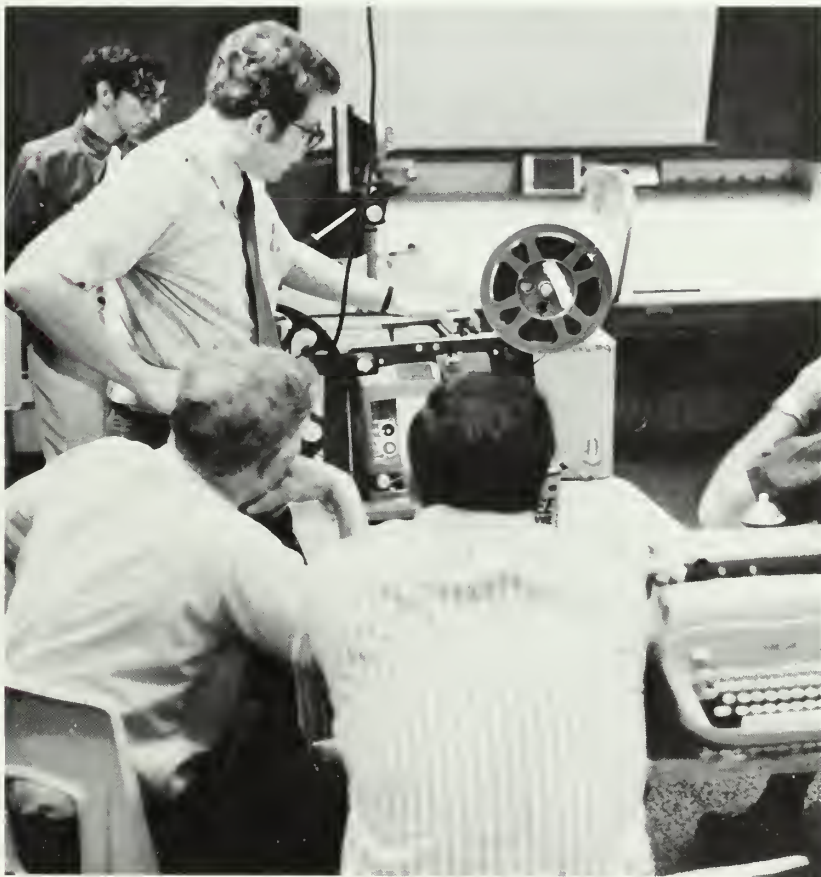

"Where Arrows Meet" will not be remembered because of its appearance in the screen but rather because of its mere existence.

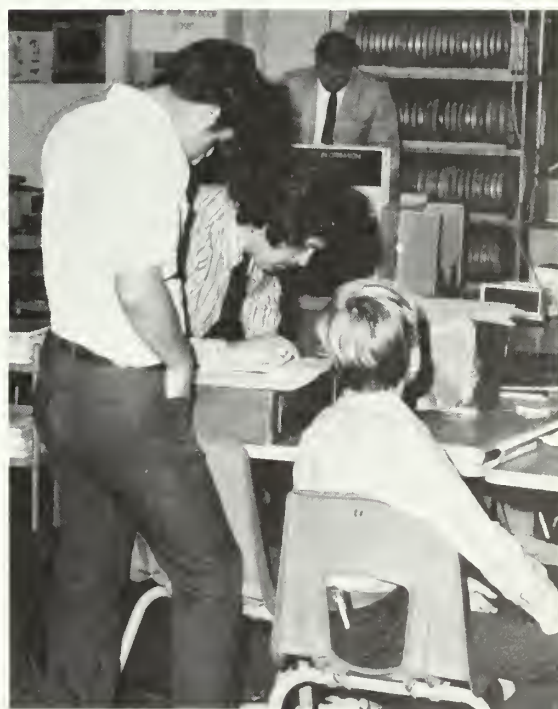

The stars of the movie are John Matthew, Bob Giovani, Steve Dereszewski, Mike, Karen Stafford, Joe Clark, Steven Goodwyn, Dave Girardi, Paula Percoco, Jon Hall, Paul Crowley, James Gallagher, and countless others. Production crew includes David Cornelius, Photography; John Carter, cameraman; Mark Sateriale, sound engineer; Guy Morello, sound ass't; Frank Galvin, Rick Maibaum, Ian Fleming, Tech. Production; Carol Beliveau, Madeline Capasso, Sylvia Strellis, Susan Erickson, Publicity.

There are also students who are involved in producing materials and offer their support to the instructional media program. The students of AUDIO-VISUAL CLUB spend their study periods and much time after school operating the various and sundry types of equipment.

The members of the LIBRARY CORPS are Patricia Stephens, Rina Nikolchev, Roslyn Smith, Steve Gilligan, John Asinari, Beverly Crawford, Linda Rawston, Jay Dodd, Daniel Viola, Alan Robinson, Elizabeth Sakey, Richard Spinale, Anne Ronan, Deborah O'Neil, Jean McIsaac, and Margaret Mendes.

The LIBRARY CORPS also spends much time after school; they have broken last year's all-time record by holding $3\frac{1}{2}$ meetings. They have shelved 2473 books. They have served 929 overdue notices. They have served 530 second time notices. They have collected a grand total of \$13.24 for lost books. They have suffered 56 cases of paper cut fingers, none of which needed medical attention. And thanks to their excellent eyes, they managed to have only 21 books stolen from the Book Fair. Congratulations are truly in order.

The COOPERATIVE and DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION PROGRAMS are the only two legal ways to escape from Arlington High School before 2:07. Actually, neither is an easy way out by any means; both are demanding programs designed to acquaint students with the business world.

The twenty-six Cooperative Education students start their high school day the way most high school students do, attending classes. But at 11:30 they are dismissed to go to work—usually an office position, doing secretarial or clerical work or working in Data Processing, for which they are given school credit. Their work week is usually about twenty hours, but even in that short time employers have given high praise to students' determination and capability. The program also offers counseling regarding vocational, educational, and personal problems.

The Distributive Education Program offers an even closer look at the business world. Students in this program study merchandising and retailing in the classroom and then apply their knowledge in job training programs. They too are released early from school to work, and receive school credit while working. The '72 D.E. class has attended conferences in Boston, Hyannis, Baltimore, and the New York Catskills to exchange ideas with other D.E. groups, display their projects, and generally have a good time. This year D.E. has offered a before-school coffee shop for students and faculty.

And for another year, the LATIN CLUB and for the first time, the GREEK CLUB buried their respective heads in the seas of antiquity, the only point of issue being whose head sunk the deepest.

The Greek Club, in a democracy resembling the city states of thousands of years past, met at least once and very little is and will ever be known about them. For the majority it is forever destined to be Greek to us.

And then the Latin Club, under the consulship of Carl and Leto, carried forth the majesty of Imperial Rome. By Imperial proclamation Room 26 became New Rome and Scott Turner serving his pro-consulship left to become governor of Palestine. In New Rome the citizens were kept happy throughout the year by such measures as increasing the dole and by cutting the proscription lists in half.

Such classicism as the Greek and Latin Clubs is not unique to Arlington High for the ancient art of rhetoric and debate is being carried with excellence by the DEBATING CLUB, and this year the team was a powerhouse of oratorical skill. In fact, it seems that the opposing teams knew this and made a point of cancelling their debates with Arlington.

Under the leadership of Mike Sheehan and Andrea Mobilia the club's record allowed them to finish in second place. And seemingly of more interest to the Debating Team was the fact that they managed to pack fifteen kids into two 1965 Valiants.

And in contrast to the verbal might of these fine BS artists, we come to the school logicians of . . .

The MATH TEAM . . . "Well, Professor, at what value did you arrive for $4\sqrt{4}?$ "

The members of the Math Team are Mike DiPerna, Peter Gennis, Dave Cornelius, Bob Franzosa, Paul Robbins, Stuart Burton, Tom Gennis.

And would you believe that the CHESS TEAM has an advisor who doesn't know the first thing about chess? "But that's okay, Ms. Hummer," says Paul Robbins, biting into another pre-game cookie, "at least you're a good cook."

Fortunately, Paul, the only senior of the club, moves around the chess board better than he does through the subway system on our way to meets. He is ably backed by Peter Gennis who keeps Ms. Hummer sufficiently piqued with his male chauvinist pig remarks. Shizuo Mukai has revealed a strange liking for stale cranberry cake and that's about all we know about our quietest member (but what a fact to know). David Oster, Rick Scholer and Mike Malloy are our most casual players who do well—when they show up.

But certainly not all extracurricular activity at Arlington High goes into such academic pursuits as the scholarly Chess Team and this can be seen by a glance at the TEEN CENTER on a Friday night.

There as one walks in, hordes of happy Teen Center patrons can be seen merrily frolicking and otherwise stumbling about. This is not to preclude the possibility that there are more sober people present, but let it suffice to say that the Teen Center is not known for its tee-totalers.

And, of course, behind the Teen Center operation exists a group of people who must organize and keep the Center running: Shaun Kilfoyle, Dean Assadorian, George Carbone, Julie and Joanne Sweny, Patty Shimkas, Maury Corkery, and Robert Offenburger.

Thanks to the GIRLS' CLUB lots of people found themselves a new craft—macrame.

"How many times was the car wash cancelled? 6-25-2? October Hayride . . . We've been talking about going to New York for four years.

We'll never forget THE BARN, welfare Christmas parties, Red Volkswagon, summer conference and every other Tuesday night."

The CHRONICLE members will never forget those important meetings of all Chronicle editors in Room 73 after school ... " ... our next issue will be coming out ... " Lynette, where's your assignment sheet? ... well, at least Janet's all set on her page ... all copy is due ... no, Joe, we can't print ... doesn't anyone around this place know how to type? Guess what, Suzanne, it's been requested that you cover ... poster making time again ... and who do you think you'll get to carry this sandwich board, Barb? ... hey, Steve, haven't we gotten the telephone company ad yet? ...

... the galleys will be back ... yick—look at these hands!! ... right now, Sal needs that picture size, right now! ... does anyone want anything from across the street? ... it's your job, Joe ... who's got the glue? ... oh no, it's Gross on sports ... sorry, Lise, we really did try ... the Chronicle will be on sale ... well, Joan, you're just not going to make salesman of the year ... you mean we only sold 800 copies? ... sure, Miss Schiel, we'd love to go for coffee ... if nothing else at least we learned to cut!

Major Editors of the Chronicle: Lynette Aznavourian, Steven Aznavourian, Lise Gelineau, Joe Gross, Joan Lundstrom, Editor-in-Chief; Janice Malatesta, Joe Sattlak, Managing Editor; Sal Tassone, Janet Tobey, Barbara Tsakirgis, Joe Viglione. Advisor, Miss Schiel.

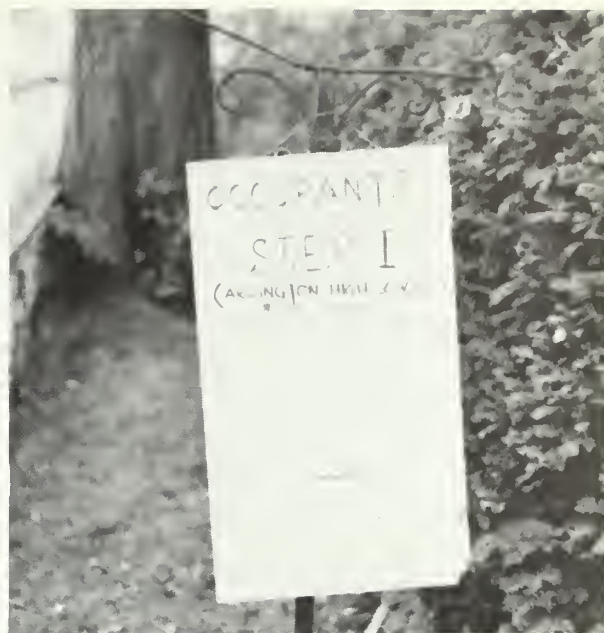

We had difficult, hectic, and frustrating times this year, but they proved to be foundation—building and successful for our AHS SKI CLUB.

We had difficulties organizing; many of us felt that we could function without a faculty advisor until the school told us that one was required. And even when Mr. Shore volunteered, Mr. Locke and company refused to recognize us as an official club.

Yet in the end it's the students who make a club what it is, and on that basis we had a great year. Despite terrible skiing conditions most of the winter and a bus that couldn't quite make it to Wildcat, Ski Club members were wildly enthusiastic—and especially hysterical when they ended up rolling down the slopes.

It would be nice for Mr. Locke to acknowledge our existence in the future, but this year we really organized ourselves and had a great time, paving the way for even more successful years in the future.

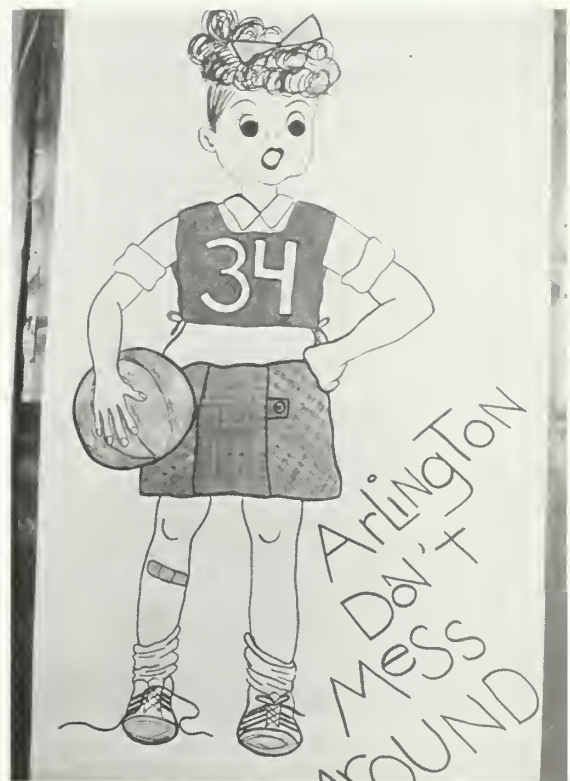

We are a family. Isolated down in Room one we discuss realities rather than irrelevancies. We look out for each other's best interest and we believe in honesty. We believe in upholding the greater common cause of all mankind. This class is real; we do what we want; we don't believe in putting our teachers on pedestals. We don't believe in using our minds as fertilizer on society's lawn. Most of us learn from life, not from school. Therefore this course is very close to life. We believe that man is basically evil and we help to fight that evil. We believe in honor among thieves.

The definition of a great football team is one that has everything. It must have good size, excellent speed and must have the ability to win. If this is the definition of a great team, the 1972 Arlington High team was a "great" team. In the 1972 team, the desire to win overcame its inabilities in other departments.

Unfortunately, football is often termed a game of breaks and unfortunately, Arlington didn't get any.

Arlington High's cross country team did not fare as well as they had hoped this year but the season was not wholly bad. After starting off the season with a great win over Cambridge Latin, the long distance runners went steadily downhill. Despite many first and second places for Captain Tom Gennis and next year's captain, John Kelley, the team did not have enough other runners to place.

Nevertheless, the season was not a total loss for the members were dismissed from school one hour early on two occasions and the bus rides were filled with merry frolicking that took the form of tens of weirdos happily making faces at passing cars.

Oldies but goodies; Mary, what the h-ll happened to your gym suit; I used to be mental when I was little; Here comes George, make like a tree quick; Carol, watch out for that pole; HoJo's, here we come; take one, its free!; Who has the missing four pictures of the locker room?; Jimmy, Mary Anne likes you—No! A first year team eh? However, the usual first year pep talk—don't feel bad if you don't have a good season—wasn't necessary this year.

Right from the start, the Arlington High Soccer team proved themselves fierce competitors and league contenders. Although in specific soccer skills, the team was surpassed, they had a tremendous season; mostly because they made up for their inexperience with tremendous endurance and an overwhelming desire to win.

Volleyball is somewhat of a new sport at AHS; just beginning last year, this year's volleyball team is comparatively young with only six members of last year's team returning; two of which were seniors.

The object of the game is to win two games out of three for the match. The first match at Cambridge was a disappointment for the varsity because it was the first game and unfortunately, a loss. However, the season did not fare entirely like that and there is room for at least some rejoicing.

Hey Flash—get off you feet—we're going to do digs—Superstar, right Riser?—Bruce—sit—up and speak!—gee that was nice—hope it's a better season than 5-3.

The indoor track team wound up the season with a less than spectacular record of two wins and five losses, but there were a number of outstanding competitors: Tim Butler—50 yd dash, Bill Dwyer—45 yd. Hurdles, Bob Macchia and Larry Prior—300 yd run, Tom Gennis and Paul Ligor—1000 yd run, Noel Graydon and Shizuo Mukai—mile, John Kelly and Richard Archibald—2 mile run, Paul Ligor—high jump and Mal Hodge—shot put. Special recognition should be given to the relay team, composed of Tim Butler, Bill Dwyer, Dave Girardi, and Bob Macchia, which proved to be one of the fastest in the state.

Many good prospects, including Captain Elect for 1972-73 season, Bill Dwyer should make the '73 season a success.

Paul Temmalo, Joe Magliozzi and John Boyle had the not so glorious task on playing on a "team for the future". Preparation for future years was the main task for 1972.

However, despite their inexperience, the team posted a near 500 record. Although the team did not visit the Garden this year, its seems assured that a good season next year will guarantee this.

To describe the 1972 Arlington High School Hockey team, one need only list a string of superlative adjectives: the greatest ability, guts, pride, desire to win and aggressiveness.

Making it all the way to the Eastern Massachusetts semi-finals, the Arlington Hockey team, with only one fluke loss in the regular season, reinforced the thoughts of excellence that are always associated with all of Coach Burn's teams.

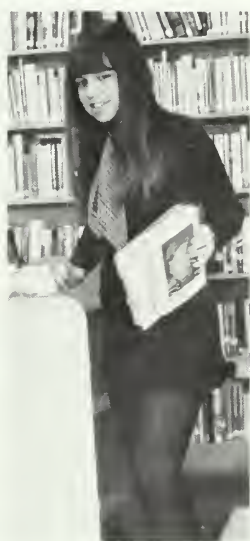

The gymnastics team under the excellent coaching of Mr. Harold Fairbanks had only two losses in its 9 game season. With such stars as John Nochella, Rusty Garity, and James Cronin, the team maneuvered its way to near perfection. Seniors, Kevin O'Neil, Ed Powers and Richard Smith contributed much.

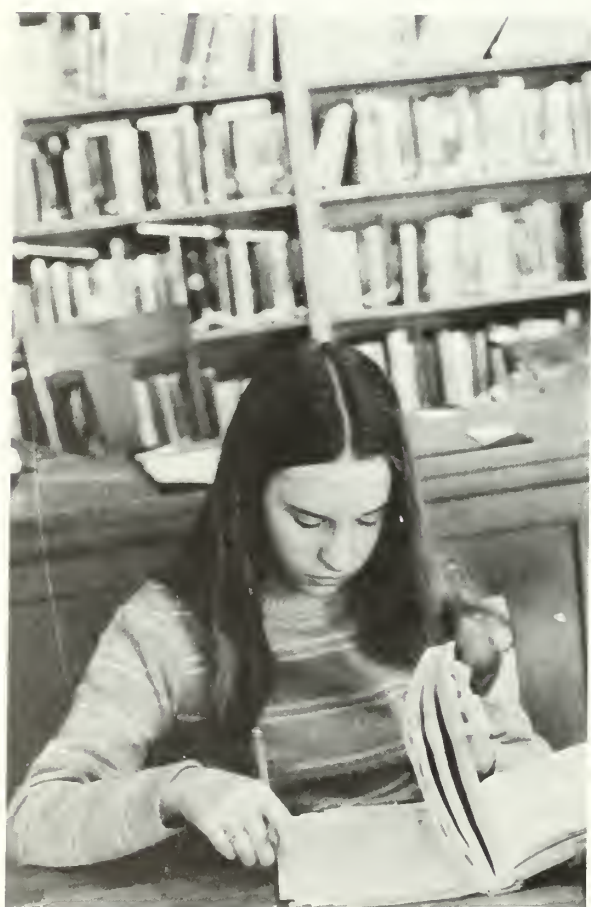

*The breakthrough came
Each took his own place
Knowing the faces beside him
And meeting the rest along the way.*

*We were all in it together
Some never played, some never worked
But we all laughed
And we are better for the experience.*

*We are going forward
Into a land unknown
We Know; the climb grows steeper,
The air colder and sharper.
But we can hear the strings of expectation*

*Stir from the wind of our unknown goal
Shall we get there?
There where life resounds
A clear, pure note
In the Silence*
