APACE offers a wide selection of countertop options including granite, quartz, and dekton. Each type of countertop option has its own strengths.

GRANITE

Granite is the most standard type of countertop. It is a natural stone that comes from stone quarries, cut into slabs, polished, and fabricated. Benefits of the countertop include: easy cleaning, natural design, and durability. Granite countertops require sealing upon installation.

DEKTON LITE

Dekton is made from a blend of natural quartz stone, porcelain, and glass. These raw materials are fused and compressed under high pressure to create a slab that is very dense and compact. The advantages of Dekton Lite include: UV and high/low temperature resistant, fireproof, resistant to abrasion, and super light weight.
