

Springboard Athletic Connections Corp. Introduces New App Platform

An innovative digital solution to assist young athletes and their parents with professional sports recruitment and university scholarships.

VANCOUVER, British Columbia - Sept. 22, 2020 - PRLog -- An athletic scholarship is a kind of merit award for students who excel at their sport. From 2018 to 2019, U.S. colleges with varsity athletic programs awarded almost $4.1 billion in athletic scholarships, which covers college or university attendance, awarded to an individual student-athlete based predominantly on his or her ability to play and excel at any sport.

Scholarship recruitment can be very confusing and Springboard has set out to make the application process effortless – more efficient, clear and personalized. At Springboard, we care about our clients' success and do our best to educate parents and young athletes on maximizing their chances of acceptance for the recruiting process. The Springboard solution also provides customer support to its users, such as a chat, email correspondence, or phone help, answered by real customer service representatives on weekdays. To ensure customers' satisfaction, the platform provides informative industry updates and educational segments.

About Springboard: Springboard Athletic Connections Corp. is a unique digital solution, engineered to help kids and their parents prepare for professional sports recruiters and university/college scholarships. The application provides the most recent, comprehensive, and useful statistical information on college athletic scholarships and participation requirements at the school level(<https://springboardathletic.com/>).
