CHAD RIVETTE

By Robin Tanner

Chad Rivette was born into a musical family in Cornwall, Ontario, where the soundtrack of his childhood ranged from his mother's soothing lullabies to his father's lively guitar riffs. Surrounded by music from the very beginning, Chad developed a deep love for Country music that would shape the course of his life. "I come from a musical family," he says. "My biggest influence was my father, Frank Rivette, a well-known musician for over 45 years. Then my whole family of musicians - and of course Diamond Rio, Alabama, Chris Stapleton, Luke Combs... just so many, to be honest."

Chad's first public performance came at just fourteen years old, when he stepped onto a small community stage and sang George Strait's classic 'The Chair'. The performance won over the crowd and earned him his first paid gig at a local Cornwall bar called P.G.'s. More importantly, it ignited something inside him - a passion for performing that has never faded. "I've been playing in bars since I was fourteen," Chad recalls. "I performed every weekend. I never had a Friday or Saturday off in thirty-three years."

In January 2023, Chad took a major step forward by beginning to write his own music. His songwriting draws heavily from his upbringing in Cornwall - the joys, the heartaches, the simplicity of small-town life. His honest lyrics and authentic sound quickly resonated with listeners, helping him build a loyal and growing fan base.

Later that same year, Chad experienced a breakthrough moment. His first self-written song, a heartfelt tribute to his late mother Bonnie, soared to number one on Music Mafia Radio. The emotional ballad not only introduced him to a wider audience but also earned him a nomination for 'Male Artist of the Year' 2023 on Music Mafia Radio, a milestone that affirmed he was on the right path.

Chad's music blends traditional Country roots with modern storytelling, marked by emotional depth, intricate guitar work, and a soulful, unmistakable voice. His sound honors the genre's heritage while bringing a fresh, contemporary edge that appeals to today's listeners.

His career has continued to rise. In 2024, Chad won the ISSA 'International Entertainer of the Year' GOLD Award in Atlanta, Georgia, a moment he describes as unforgettable. "Having my eighth #1 on radio... and then multiple award nominations in 2025, it's a childhood dream come true!"

His latest single, 'Four Devotions', is already gaining traction, and he has eight more songs scheduled for release later this year.

Chad also carries with him a deeply personal spiritual experience that continues to shape his life and music. "I saw my mother in my kitchen drinking coffee at 3:00 AM," he shares. "It was two weeks after she passed away. When I realized what I was seeing, I turned back, and she was gone. But the chair was pushed out, and an empty coffee mug was on the table where she had been sitting. It showed me that the afterlife exists, and it gave me hope that I'll see her again. I miss her so much."

For Chad Rivette, music is more than a career, it's a calling. "My goal is to never stop chasing my dream of hitting the big stage and sharing my music globally," he says. "Music is my life. It's what I'm meant to do. I feel it inside me."

As Chad continues to write, record, and perform, his presence in the Country music world grows stronger. With his down-to-earth personality, relatable lyrics, and undeniable talent, he isn't just a singer, he's a storyteller. And his journey stands as a testament to hard work, passion, and staying true to one's roots.
