Description: Barrier-free bathrooms have been recognized as top bathroom design trends, and blogs galore in the design and construction industry tout their popularity. Some design trends start because there is a unique need in the market and then catch fire because the new solution is better in so many ways. The rise of the barrier-free shower is a perfect example of this phenomenon. First developed to accommodate the growing interest in aging in place spurred by Baby Boomers, barrier-free showers are now considered the next level in beautiful, luxurious interiors.

This course will take a closer look at the benefits that this aging-friendly and now trending solution can bring to a bathroom, and a few important best practices that will help avoid some of the challenges that can arise during construction.

Learning

Objectives: At the end of this presentation, the participant will be able to:

1. Describe the connection between barrier-free showers and the design objectives of aging in place or living in place.
2. Explain how barrier-free shower spaces comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) design standards.
3. Identify the basic elements and considerations for incorporating this more accessible barrier-free shower into a new construction or renovation project.
4. Specify the right linear drain system for any given project.

Approach: A PowerPoint presentation that includes both design applications, case studies, and installation diagrams. There will be a Q&A period at the end of the program; however, questions are encouraged throughout as well.

A/V needed: Electrical power, projector and screen, or screen to plug into for the PowerPoint presentation.

Target

Audience: Architects, designers, specifiers, builders, developers and other professional in the residential, commercial, hospitality, and healthcare markets.

Cost: Non-applicable. There is no fee for bringing this program into a firm or chapter meeting.
