

Liz Goldberg

CV and selected exhibitions

I taught Fashion Drawing, Illustration, and 3D Animation Media at Pratt Institute for 15 years and have been at Drexel University for 16 years teaching illustration and drawing in the Fine Arts Department, teaching humanities literature for the Honors College, and teaching fashion illustration for the Fashion Design Department and Animation Department.

I earned my BFA from York University and my MFA from Pratt Institute
As a painter, animator, graphic illustrator my work has been exhibited both nationally and abroad. My work is inspired by the interaction between color and line, animation and fashion.
