The Presidential Approach to Hot Sauce

Brad Child is redefining the standard conception of hot sauce. Madison's Hot and Madison's "M" sauces are both made with low calorie, gluten free, vegan ingredients and both are extremely versatile. With a presidential nod to a Founding Father, this is a spicy way to acknowledge Independence Day.

"It is a throwback to the way our ancestors cooked. It's all natural and has no preservatives," explains Child. With more than twenty years experience as a restaurant consultant, Brad Child is a foodie at heart, concocting Madison's recipe in his own home kitchen. As friends tasted it, followed by chefs in the restaurant industry, it was clear that he had crafted something special.

Madison's two flavors are both nuanced and kicky. As the political season heats up, there is a new hot sauce debate. Madison's is sure to enter the fray. ■
