RxAir360

clinical hyperbaric oxygen device

The Latest

Our Series A investment round is still open. As we have had investors in this round, our goal of $15M has not yet been met. If you or someone you know may be interested in our Series A round, please contact Heather Isham for further instructions. We will inform you when this round closes.

Great News

We are happy to announce Electroimpact has COMPLETED our RxAr360 prototype design, and it meets all criteria required for approval. The next phase is the pressure test. The device pressure must be 100% to pass safety. This testing will use finite element analysis technology. This technology is a computerized method that validates two things about our device:

1. Will it function properly?
2. Will it be safe?

When this final process is complete, we will prepare for submission to 510K FDA for approval. RxAir360 is a class II medical device that meets the equivalent of an existing hyperbaric chamber.

Validation

Our excitement continues to grow as we see more and more validation that hyperbaric oxygen therapy is changing lives and helping thousands of people. We will continue to bring you news of what's happening in hyperbaric oxygen therapy and why you should be excited about the future of RxAir360.
