PROJECT INTRODUCTION

Following the coronavirus outbreak, masks have become essential protective equipment. Mouth and nose protection is well known, but there is one bad thing, "you can't hear the sound and see the face."

Mask is inconvenient for teachers, medical and nursing staff, police officers, service workers, and deaf and hard-of-hearing people. To solve this problem, we developed a series of products, such as sound-transmitting and face masks, to restore everyday interpersonal communication.

Unfortunately, the world epidemic is still going on, and there is still a considerable market for acts and much money to make. As a fast-consuming daily necessity used by billions of people worldwide, we cannot meet the demand. We hope all enthusiastic people will join us to contribute to the world's epidemic prevention!
