

AN AMERICAN MANIFESTO

As a citizen of the United States of America, I accept the belief that all individuals have been created equal; that they are endowed with such fundamental rights as life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; and that together we as Americans are committed to the common goals of establishing justice, insuring domestic tranquility, providing for the common defense, promoting the general welfare and securing the blessings of liberty for ourselves, our families and our future.

I further believe that all governing organizations in the United States must continue to be formed of the people, by the people, and for the people and that this bedrock principle of nearly 250 years of American democracy must not be tampered with in any way by any group for any reason.

I note that no President in the history of the country has failed to turn over his office once a successor has been suitably identified. Therefore, I declare my trust in the results of the November 3, 2020 election as officially reported by the duly empowered officials of each voting jurisdiction and condemn all attempts to reject or cast doubt on those results without clear and convincing evidence of material wrongdoing or foul play.
