The Cruel Mystery
LUPUS
FOUNDATION OF AMERICA

Lupus is more likely to occur in Black, AAPI and Hispanic communities. Racial bias can affect access and quality of care for communities of color and lead to poor health outcomes.

Observe Lupus Awareness Month

Advocate for Lupus

Lupus lacks significant awareness and there isn't even a cure for it yet. Education and continuous research are imperative if we want to conquer this disease. During this awareness month, you can advocate for lupus through social media by inciting informative conversations and equipping others with the knowledge you possess.

Wear Purple

Purple is the color associated with lupus since purple brings together the passion of red and the calmness of blue.

MAKE YOUR MARK
LUPUS FUNDRAISING

You can show your support for lupus by wearing all things purple on May 20th at the Bay Area Health & Wellness Expo Freeport Florida. Make sure to inform others why you're doing this and the significance behind it.

Certain autoimmune diseases present similar symptoms across the more than eighty types. The presence and severity of these signs and symptoms depend on the location and type of autoimmune response that occurs. A person may have more than one autoimmune disease simultaneously and display symptoms of each.

Signs and symptoms presented, and the disease itself, can depend on age, hormones, environment, and other factors.
