

Earth Connection Timeline

Started growing my own gardens.

Exploring soil, natural gardening techniques, bugs, always wanting to keep things natural (avoiding man made chemicals. Encouraging life NOT death

Continued to grow a garden every year

Moved to California and put my focus into earth. Began to connect to people with the right natural information for gardening. Took a soil biology class. Learned for the first time how to grow steward life in the soil.

Began working with an earthworm soil company. Began to put my learning into practice

Moved back to Utah began to more fully connect energy experience with soil/plant experience. Began to explore winter snow gardening, survival gardening, and wild gardening. Calling in the seeds and eco-system with energy.

Now working toward my dream of a food forest in every yard/land that wants one. Desire to put food independence back in the hands of the truehumans.

2009

1990-2008

Grew up with Grandpa and Dad always having a garden. Growing organically and naturally. Always talking about plants. My grandpa would always give the type of tree as a landmark in directions. I loved that. Eating garden fresh veggies.

2018

2009-2017

Connecting to my natural energy work skills while always continuing to have a garden every year. Learning more about what soil or seeds to buy and caring about sourcing in food, seeds & soil.

2019

2018-2026

Obsessively began to read, learn, & explore living soil. Tested/utilized earthworm soil, growing mycelium and understanding the relationships & workings of the bacteria, fungi, nematodes, plants, eco-systems, etc. Always continuing to learn

2023-
Current

2019-2023

Passion for soil led me to:

- Run a Natural Process Plant Nursery
- Build out an abundant 1 acre Food Forest (permaculture)
- Work with large conventional farms, small farms, gardeners to help transition/maintain natural growing practices
- Grew my soil in my own yard. (Trees began to plant themselves.)
- Continued to learn all I could

I can help people cultivate their garden according to the amount of work they desire to put in. I can cater the plan uniquely to them. If desired, I can tune into the energy to see best unique way.
