

CRANE AND CRANE: HOMONYM CHALLENGE!!

By Linda Joy Singleton

Can you guess the homonym?

1. A grizzly animal _____ and shoeless feet are _____.
2. _____ a horse and drove on a _____.
3. To lift: _____, sting _____, and sun slants are called _____.
4. Grow a _____ in a pot and mix _____ in a bowl.
5. Hit balls with a _____ and a small flying mammal _____.
6. A _____ plays music and a hair _____ holds a ponytail.
7. An airplane can _____ and annoying buzzing _____.
8. You can _____ your car near the tree-filled _____.
9. Wag a _____ and listen to a story _____.
10. Left is not _____ and hold pencil on paper to _____.

Use homonyms to write a story!

The bear roared in surprise as the barefoot bicyclist rode past him down the road. The bear raised his paw which was still sore from a sting ray attack and then chased after the bike rider. When sun rays blinded him, he knocked over a flower pot and ran through an open door into a kitchen where a child was pouring flour into a bowl to bake sweet rolls. The child wore red shoes that matched her red hair band. "Shoo!" she shouted. Startled, the bear ran so fast like he was flying. He stumbled and rolled down a hill like a bowling ball. He crashed into an alley, startling flies buzzing around a trash can, then ran past parked cars to a park where a band played music on a stage. The music calmed him. Happily, he wagged his fuzzy tail and listened to the band singing a story tale. He was so inspired that he went into a nearby cellar at a golf course, picked up a pencil, and sat right down at a table to write a story. It was a best seller, of course.

Educational Activities, Book News & Free Stories @ www.LindaJoySingleton.com