

To All Customers:

SUMCO's goal is to be an ethical and responsible supplier and we work to ensure that our whole supply chain is in accordance with our vision.

Following the implementation of the UFLP act, SUMCO has done a thorough review of our supply chain to ensure that none of the materials we use in the production of our wafers have any material that is sourced from locations that may use any human trafficked or involuntary labour such as forced, debt bonded, prison, indentured, or slave labour.

As well as our commitment to the UK Slavery act, we can confirm that no material we source arises from such human trafficking or involuntary labour.

Should you have any additional concerns or require further information please do not hesitate to contact us.

Yours Sincerely
