QUEENIE

Queenie was rescued from a muddy construction site in December of 2023, with her only surviving kitten Hutch (who has since found an amazing new home). Upon intake Queenie was desperately thin, and completely terrified.

Queenie is an old soul in a young cats body. Since being brought into Foster care Queenie has learned to trust and start to come out of her shell. Queenie is particularly fond of soft and cozy places to nap, and is quite playful with toys. She has become very affectionate with her foster family, and will happily play for hours with her human kids, or lay beside her foster mom on the couch for hours. She loves to be pet, and will loudly purr and often offer love bites back in exchange. Despite coming so far Queenie is still a shy girl at heart. She is quick to hiss at strangers in the home, but is a very timid girl who is not aggressive and just takes time to warm up to new faces. She is very fearful of the dog in her foster home, so at this time we feel she would do best in a dog free home.

DIANA

This stunning girl came to us December 2022!!! She has been with us over a year now and it's time for her to find her family.

Diana was caring for her kittens in a small community as winter set in. Her kittens were rescued with her coming into care a short time later.

Diana was very scared and we had her TNR'd thinking she would have to return to her outdoor life. Given the frigid winter we chose to keep her indoors with hopes she would learn to trust.

She adored the kitties in her foster room, and now in her foster home as she is blended with the resident kitties. She snuggles close with the other cats and follows them everywhere. She watches them get love from their mom but she just hasn't quite got past her fears to accept love. Her foster mom can pet her at certain times and once she is being pet she seems to enjoy it, but she is fearful of sudden movements still. Diana is an active part of her foster home, mingling with the other kitties and coexisting with the dogs. She is still not sold on being pet but in the right home and environment she could get past that fear. She truly seems to want to snuggle in with her foster mom as the other kitties are getting snuggles but her fear holds her back. We feel, with time and patience she may even become that snuggle cat. She must have a few friendly felines in her forever home as she just adores other cats.

Some might say Diana is not adoptable, why would you post her for adoption if you can't handle her?? We have hesitated for months to post her with hopes she will learn to trust enough to enjoy being pet. We feel she is just as deserving as any other kitty, we just have to find her the right person. She may never be a lap kitty, or she might turn into the biggest snuggler once with her very own people. There is NOTHING more rewarding then winning the love of a semi-feral kitty ??

Right now Diana lives in a home where her foster mom runs a rescue, works fulltime away from the home and cares for MANY animals. Unfortunately she doesn't get focused socializing time. We have faith that there are other loving, crazy cat people, that would welcome and love Diana for who she is, a beautiful calico with stunning markings?

MARBLE

Marble is a very loving and affectionate girl who loves to be petted and is fine with being held. She can be a bit of a talker and quite persistent when she wants attention or her moist food.

Marble was rescued from outdoors in the country when she was pregnant. It was noticed that she has a rotating back hip when she walks and therefore it was decided that an xray was in order to see whether she had been previously injured or born this way. It turns out that both of her back legs had been previously broken in several places and had healed on their own but not properly. It is not known what happened to her to create these serious injuries. The vet couldn't believe that she could actually walk looking at the xrays however she walks quite well in spite of these injuries. She can't jump very high however she is able to go up and down stairs.

It has been decided to put her on a monthly injection of Solensia which is an anti-inflammatory to control pain for osteoarthritis. Marble will require this injection to be given by a vet for life and the cost is $70.00 and up monthly depending on the vet.

In spite of her injuries Marble enjoys some play time. She likes chasing a laser light for a brief period or jumping at it, interacting with a wand toy or you may find her just laying in her cat tunnel. Marble loves her cat bed and that is likely where you'll find her napping every afternoon. Watching the birds and squirrels from the window is another of her favourite pastimes. She has not had any exposure to dogs.

Marble is a bit shy at first with new people therefore she would do best with a single adopter or a quiet couple. She would love to be an only pet as she is not fond of other cats and she would then be able to receive all the love and attention for herself that she craves.

MEGHAN

Meghan comes across as over inquisitive and will be in an unattended grocery bag before you know it. She just loves to be where humans are and likes to follow from room to room and she wants to be on the same side of the door as you are. She loves to nap in the sunshine and bird/squirrel watching in a window sill.

Eating is not a high priority for Meghan but she will eat when hungry when moist is offered and will graze on dry if available. She is not super specific to any one brand of food.

She likes to be up high preferring to sleep on the top perch of a cat stand or on the back of the couch. She enjoys when you throw soft cat toys so she can try to catch them. Megan is a vocal girl and pretty tolerant with nail trims and she likes to sleep on the bed at night with her humans.

Meghan has grown up with other kitties and would love to go to a home with her brother Harry if possible, but we think she would also be ok as an only kitty. She has met dogs here and there and has been ok, even a little curious so we feel a cat savvy pup would be ok!

CLAYTON

Clayton was rescued May 2023 when he had been showing up regularly thru the night at our feeding station. He came in and showed us he had potential as he didn't show any aggression. He was definitely scared but accepted pets even if he didn't like them.

Over the last year Clay has been living the good life! He is fostered with many kitties and 2 large breed dogs. He gets along with all the kitties of all ages but most enjoys the younger ones that will wrestle and play with him. Clayton is very food motivated and will always join his foster mom on the couch- just within arms reach in hopes to share her evening snacks. He is very polite about it and will take treats from the hand gently. He does NOT enjoy touch and will shy away from being pet. He is very visible in his foster home, coexisting with the dogs even if he hasn't made friends with them. He hangs out from a distance observing and comes quickly for treat time.

Some would say Clayton is not adoptable, why would you post him for adoption if you can't handle him?? We have hesitated for months to post him with hopes he will learn to trust enough to enjoy being pet. We feel he is just as deserving as any other kitty, we just have to find him the right person. He may never be a lap kitty, or he might turn into the biggest snuggler once with his very own people. There is NOTHING more rewarding then winning the love of a semi-feral kitty !!!

MALE ~DOB NOV/21

- HANDSOME LONGHAIREDBOY
- CURIOUS BUT SHY
- WILL NEED TIME AND PATIENCE
- PLAYFUL
- LOVES LOVES LOVES TREATS
- WILL NEED SOCIAL KITTIES IN HIS FOREVER HOME

RTCR

Right now he lives in a home where his foster mom runs a rescue, works fulltime away from the home and cares for double digit animals. Unfortunately he doesn't get focused socializing time. We have faith that there are other loving, crazy cat people, that would welcome and love Clayton for who he is, a beautiful long haired silver tabby. Clayton NEEDS other cats in his furrever home - the more the better as he truly is a cat cat.
