MARBLE

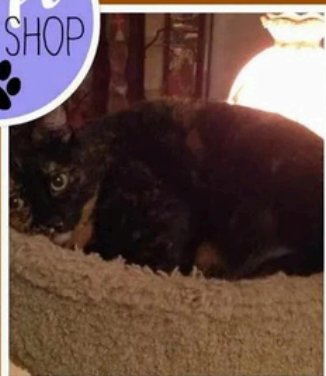

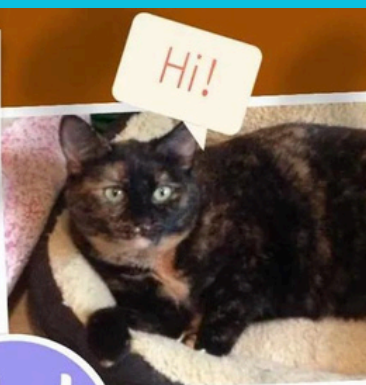

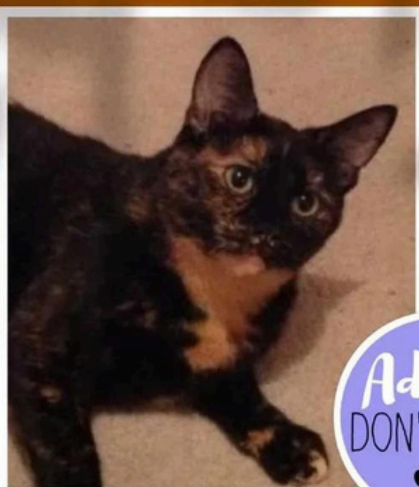

Marble is a very loving and affectionate girl who loves to be petted and is fine with being held. She can be a bit of a talker and quite persistent when she wants attention or her moist food.

Marble was rescued from outdoors in the country when she was pregnant. It was noticed that she has a rotating back hip when she walks and therefore it was decided that an xray was in order to see whether she had been previously injured or born this way. It turns out that both of her back legs had been previously broken in several places and had healed on their own but not properly. It is not known what happened to her to create these serious injuries. The vet couldn't believe that she could actually walk looking at the xrays however she walks quite well in spite of these injuries. She can't jump very high however she is able to go up and down stairs.

It has been decided to put her on a monthly injection of Solensia which is an anti-inflammatory to control pain for osteoarthritis. Marble will require this injection to be given by a vet for life and the cost is $70.00 and up monthly depending on the vet.

In spite of her injuries Marble enjoys some play time. She likes chasing a laser light for a brief period or jumping at it, interacting with a wand toy or you may find her just laying in her cat tunnel. Marble loves her cat bed and that is likely where you'll find her napping every afternoon. Watching the birds and squirrels from the window is another of her favourite pastimes. She has not had any exposure to dogs.

Marble is a bit shy at first with new people therefore she would do best with a single adopter or a quiet couple. She would love to be an only pet as she is not fond of other cats and she would then be able to receive all the love and attention for herself that she craves.

PEPPER

Pepper was rescued after she turned up in someone's backyard in Kincardine. Posts were made to try and find her family with no success. She then came to Rtrc.

Pepper is sweet, affectionate and playful. She is the first to greet you at the door, and joins every activity around the house. She enjoys being the center of attention, in fact, she often demands this! She's quite curious about everything and loves to turn anything into a toy or fun new game to play. From hiding in cozy places to snuggling with her foster mom, she has a super sweet side. Her shenanigans are bound to make you laugh often.

Pepper has been waiting since April for her forever home!!!! Pepper's preference for being the center of attention and her occasional feisty interactions would suit her being an only cat, or a companion to another young and active cat.

Pepper is spayed, vaccinated, microchipped and received parasite control. You can find our adoption process along with our application on our website.

DIANA

This stunning girl came to us December 2022!!! She has been with us over a year now and it's time for her to find her family.

Diana was caring for her kittens in a small community as winter set in. Her kittens were rescued with her coming into care a short time later.

Diana was very scared and we had her TNR'd thinking she would have to return to her outdoor life. Given the frigid winter we chose to keep her indoors with hopes she would learn to trust.

She adored the kitties in her foster room, and now in her foster home as she is blended with the resident kitties. She snuggles close with the other cats and follows them everywhere. She watches them get love from their mom but she just hasn't quite got past her fears to accept love. Her foster mom can pet her at certain times and once she is being pet she seems to enjoy it, but she is fearful of sudden movements still. Diana is an active part of her foster home, mingling with the other kitties and coexisting with the dogs. She is still not sold on being pet but in the right home and environment she could get past that fear. She truly seems to want to snuggle in with her foster mom as the other kitties are getting snuggles but her fear holds her back. We feel, with time and patience she may even become that snuggle cat. She must have a few friendly felines in her forever home as she just adores other cats.

RTCR

Some might say Diana is not adoptable, why would you post her for adoption if you can't handle her?? We have hesitated for months to post her with hopes she will learn to trust enough to enjoy being pet. We feel she is just as deserving as any other kitty, we just have to find her the right person. She may never be a lap kitty, or she might turn into the biggest snuggler once with her very own people. There is NOTHING more rewarding then winning the love of a semi-feral kitty ??

Right now Diana lives in a home where her foster mom runs a rescue, works fulltime away from the home and cares for MANY animals. Unfortunately she doesn't get focused socializing time. We have faith that there are other loving, crazy cat people, that would welcome and love Diana for who she is, a beautiful calico with stunning markings?

ALEXEI

Now Debuting: ALEXEI!

This handsome teenager looks dashing in his grey morning suit tuxedo. No need to lock up your girls, though! We've surgically removed the rampant reproductive powers of those smooth, white '70s dress shoes. (Still no word on whether he's ever sold a used Chevelle.) Like many rural Canadian males, Alexei enjoys hunting, sports, and evenings spent cuddling on the couch in front of the TV. He plays hard and loves a good nap, but isn't afraid to hunt and prepare a dinner of wild game. Originally found in the bush near a farm, he's a semi-reformed lifelong outdoorsman who has developed an appreciation for the finer points of indoor life. (Caveat: Although Alexei has decent aim in the bathroom, his overall housekeeping habits are on par with any other teenager.) While certainly capable of holding his own in a conflict, Alexei is more of a lover than a fighter. He's inclusive in his social preferences: cats; dogs; men; women; adults; children; stolen bacon; anyone who will rub his belly and scratch his butt. He's looking for a cuddle puddle, hunting buddy, wrestling opponent, and partner in crime. He isn't too picky on his requirements; his standards drop faster than a lead brick if you offer him the "hard stuff": catnip and Churu.)

Vaccinated, single, and ready to mingle, Alexei is looking for the right situation to take from "had him at hello" to "hang his hat in the hallway." He enjoys kids - both human and goat - but is still too young and rowdy to safely take on babies or toddlers. He'll be happiest with live-in activity buddies. However, household birds / rodents / reptiles will always look like tonight's dinner just waiting to be field-dressed and served tartare on your finest linoleum flooring... or wool rug. Bonus: If you've been meaning to hire a rodent control specialist, he will probably do it for fun. Just don't tell him what the competition charges for the same service.
