

Our societies, economies, and governments are dysfunctional. If Americans want to reduce the dysfunction within our communities, in the USA, we must unite and work together. People, who are not Americans, should consider similar efforts.

I propose that we create an equally owned national cooperative economic network of more than 100 million Americans, who pool $100 each to share more than $10 billion dollars of economic leverage and the power created by so much money and so many people with different knowledge, skills, and resources, etc., working together using a custom-designed dynamic communication system. Organized by zip codes, members might exercise shared power on national, state, county, and local levels to accomplish all sorts of goals.

Steps of My Plan:

1. Raise initial funds ($5,000,000 – $100,000,000).
2. Create a simple communication system for use in setting up the network.
3. Choose initial attorneys, accountants, etc.
4. Form the network as a corporation, so that many persons can legally act as one person; and write temporary amendable bylaws.
5. Enroll the membership, create databases, and fund network by selling each member 1 share of stock for $100. Each member is only allowed to own 1 share, so we are equal in ownership. Members will most likely need to be adult citizens or permanent residents of the USA. And junior members as young as 13 years old might be included, if legal, or at least included in some of our deliberations.
6. Create the custom-designed dynamic communication system that facilitates us resolving and then acting as one. Select officers, managers, and employees; and finalize bylaws.
7. Start working together to solve community and individual problems and create opportunities; and start gaining control of our society, economy, and government.

Most efforts that are worthwhile require time, work, and money. If Americans and others who support our efforts act quickly, optimistically, we might be at Step 7 of my plan, 2 years from now. To help raise the initial funds, people should expect to spend between $15 - $50 buying 1-3 copies of my short book, The New Revolutionary War: An American Firefighter's Dream to Help Save Humanity, by John G. Curry (2005). See free *.pdf of my book text and my Step 1. Royalty Sharing Offer, on my website. To become a member, after the corporation has been created, Americans should expect to pay about $150, which includes $100 for the share of stock plus costs of enrolling members (overestimated). The amount of time, effort, and money that members choose to put into using the network will vary too, depending on their choices and the options we create for ourselves, as members. Different members might use the network in different ways.
