

Boundary Bubble

This activity is designed to help you slow down It's where we practice self care and mindfulness to help us relax and unwind. Using the space below, create a picture of yourself with a protective boundary bubble around you. Think about what your bubble looks like and who you let into your bubble, this could include your closest friends and family. You can write their names or draw them too if you like.

