

L6NRG, LLC, Announces Acquisition of Uinta Basin Properties (Wyoming)

Acquisition of acreage in Wyoming

BOZEMAN, Mont. (PRWEB) November 14, 2017 -- L6NRG, LLC (the “Company” or “L6NRG”), an independent oil and gas exploration company engaged in the acquisition and development of oil and gas properties in the Rockies, announced today that it has completed control of about 2,560 net acres for oil and gas interests and assets located in Wyoming.

This acquisition is a continuation of the Company overall strategy with an entry point into the Uinta Basin and a basis from which to seek other bolt-on acquisition opportunities in the Rockies. The Company is currently contemplating several other transactions in the Rockies especially in the Williston Basin. (www.BakkenNRG.com).

The Company has retained a third party independent expert to complete an asset valuation and technical assessment of the acreage and assess the total reserves for the various transactions the Company is currently undertaking.

“We are excited to have our portfolio under review and are anxious to see the results as we believe the geology could be even stronger of what we have seen so far,” said Frederic Scheer CEO of L6NRG.

The Company strategy is to focus on minerals as an Asset Class. Mineral interest creates cash flow out of oil and gas production in the form of a royalty payment. Whether under a single well or 5,000 wells spread across several Counties, minerals entitle the Company to receive a payment for however long production continues. This passive income is easy to manage the “challenge is to select the proper acreage” added Scheer. The simplicity of a royalty is that it’s a straight interest in lands, or/and wells with no costs attached, there is no heavy CAPEX the risks is only on the geology if you buy Green land or the Reserves if you buy existing wells.
