

L6NRG Continues its Expansion in the Rockies

L6NRG in Montana

BOZEMAN, Mont. (PRWEB) December 12, 2017 -- L6NRG, LLC \(the “Company” or “L6NRG”\), an independent oil and gas exploration company engaged in the acquisition and development of oil and gas properties in the Rockies, announced today that it has completed control of about 5,100 net acres for oil and gas interests and assets located in the Richland and Roosevelt counties in Montana.

This acquisition is a continuation of the Company overall strategy centered on the Rockies following its recent Wyoming acquisition. The Company is currently contemplating additional transactions in the Rockies especially in the Williston Basin. (www.BakkenNRG.com).

The Company has retained Quantum Reservoir Impact (“QRI”) a third party independent expert to complete an asset valuation and technical assessment of the acreage and assess the subsurface potential.

“We are excited to work with QRI, a company that has a lot of experience in evaluating Oil & Gas assets and utilizes cutting-edge data mining technologies and advanced analytics. They are reviewing our portfolio and we are anxious to see the results to have a better perspective of subsurface potential of the acreage,” said Frederic Scheer CEO of L6NRG.

The Company strategy is to focus on minerals as an Asset Class. Mineral interest creates cash flow out of oil and gas production in the form of a royalty payment. Whether under a single well or many producing wells spread across several Counties, minerals entitle the Company to receive a payment for however long production continues. This passive income is easy to manage the “challenge is to select the proper acreage, this is why we are excited to be associated with QRI,” added Scheer.
