

In 2012, the lake region between Buffalo and Rochester, NY suffered a moderate drought that severely stressed all crops. Corn yields were stunted, causing shortages, higher consumer prices and loss of income to farm families.

Typical corn roots

With insufficient water, corn yields were stunted.

Draft stricken ears: Small and underdeveloped

Tanya Reid, Owner of Tanya Reid Landscaping and a BioWash dealer, BioWashed her corn. Her stalks were tall, healthy, robust and loaded with large ears

Tanya enjoyed huge, delicious ears

Obviously, BioWash is the Solution!

BioWash helps plants absorb water, airborne nitrogen, and any available nutrients in the soil.

See:

www.FertilizerBoosters.com