

Who We Are

Daedalus is a dedicated team of multi-discipline designers and drafters. We operate as a supplemental design team for clients in many industries.

What We Do

- Commercial and Retail Space Architectural Design and Drafting
- Structural Steel Detailing and Drafting
- Industrial Facility Layout and Design
- MEP Drafting
- Process Equipment Design Including R&D for New Processes
- Code and Regulation Compliance Review Including OSHA, USDA, ADA, IBC, etc.
- Ergonomics Review and Design for Manufacturing Operations

Why outsource your design and drafting

Unexpected business growth, project scope changes, changing project milestones, or any number of reasons can be thought of for seeking outside resources. Finding and retaining talent has become challenging, and at times almost impossible. In times such as these, leveraging an external design team can make sense both for timelines and budgets. Our design teams come to the table ready to work. No additional software or equipment to purchase. No IT resources required to aid in on-boarding a new team member. We are ready to “hit the ground running” on day one. This flexibility allows us to navigate quickly through each project we undertake to provide the most possible value to our clients.

How we integrate

Daedalus has implemented some of the worlds leading software for our design work. Leveraging the power of the Autodesk and Solidworks platforms, we are able to seamlessly integrate to our clients current workflows including cloud based document management systems. Utilizing Revit and the AEC collection we are able to provide services for building infrastructure systems. Solidworks and Inventor allow us to design and draft a plethora of equipment, fixtures, machines, etc.

How To Reach Us

Reach out to us through any one of our contact methods. Be it social media, email, or a good old fashioned phone call, we would love to hear from you.

As the saying goes; “It never hurts to have a conversation.”

---

Our Mission Statement

Provide a resource for the growth for our clients, no matter their industries. Offering supplementary support for in house design resources or operating in place of those resources. Daedalus will operate to the highest level of professionalism and with the client's success as our goals. We leverage a team of remotely operating trade discipline designers and drafters to meet any of our client's needs on time, within budget, and at any location, with every project we undertake.

---