Poem: Changed lives

Shravani Shelke – Std IX

*It's so strange,
How it all changed,
How our lives rearranged.
A happy soul now alone,
With a heart turned to stone,
With paths each on their own,
With memories unknown.*

*In the darkness of the night,
With no one in sight,
With tears hiding from the light,
With hopes lost in fight.*

*A shooting star streaks across,
A wish to make everything as it was,
To bring back the laughter that's lost,
To mend the shattered dreams at any cost.*

*Oh God, I plea,
To make things right at it seems,
To heal the wounds and silent screams,
So that joy again gleams.*

RAIN : THE KING OF THE SEASONS

Vaidehi Dange – Std IX

The rainy season, also known as 'Varsha Rutu' is the season we can see only in India. The season is witnessed in India as a specific period-based season, whereas in most places across the globe monsoon is witnessed all throughout or at any time of the year.

We can also see that this season also makes farmers joyous, as it is the time to sow seeds and see them grow. In India, we get rains from the monsoon winds. These winds bring rain clouds and change the seasons. Lord Indra is said to be the 'God of Rain'.

Many festivals, by various religions, are also celebrated during this season, like Pateti, the festival of the Parsees; Ganesh Chaturthi, the festival of the Hindus and Paryushan, the Festival of the Jains.

Kavikulaguru Kalidas wrote a Sanskrit poetry known as 'Meghadutam' which is divided into two volumes. This poetry is about how a monsoon cloud becomes a messenger who carries a message from a lover to his beloved. Kalidas wrote Mostly about the Varsha Rutu.

Monsoon is the mark of a new beginning. A signal given by nature as to how life always offers something to look forward to, however dry or hard a patch one may be going through (just like the dry and parched land burning under the scorching sun during the Summer.)

But, as we see the effect of Global Warming, rains in India are also now becoming very unpredictable and frequent. I will only say, that:

Prevent Global warming and plant more trees in this situation.

To conclude, I will repeat the golden words – a message which our Ancestors have given us:

'JEEVO JEEVASYA JEEVANAM' – which means 'one living being is food for another. This makes it inevitable for us to give as much to our environment as the environment gives to us.

POEM : SITTING ON A RAINY DAY....

Vedanti Bhoyar – Std IX

*Sitting on a rainy day,
A cup of tea, steam rising slow,
Comfort in a cup, warmth we bestow,
A dance of peace under the moon.*

*In this stillness, hearts find rest,
With you and my best,
Whether you are gone,
Leaving me behind a train.*

*The sky is wrapped in a silver shroud,
As rain whispers softly, no voices loud.
The world outside is painted in grey,
Yet inside, warmth keeps the chill at bay.*

*The patter of rain, a soothing sound,
In every drop, peace is found.
A cosy corner, a book in hand,
Lost in a story, a far-off land.*

*Each droplet dances on windowpane,
A music of water, a gentle hold back,
When the animals rush off the water,
Sliding down smooth as butter...*

Poem : MERRY CHRISTMAS

Advay Deshpande – Std IX

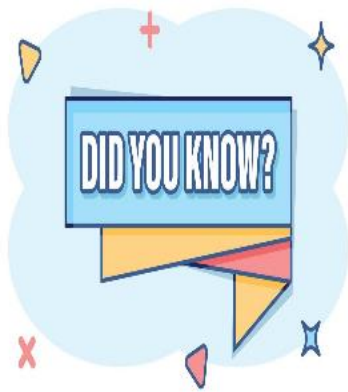

*THE FAMILY GATHERED ROUND THE TABLE
MUM'S LAID DOWN A FANTASTIC FEAST
I GUESS SHE'S OVERDONE IT A BIT
THERE'S ENOUGH FOR THOUSANDS AT LEAST*

*AS THE CHRISTMAS CAROLS PLAY
AND EVERYONE FOLLOWS THEIR WAY
THE CROWD HEARS SANTA SAY
"I HOPE EVERYONE'S JOYOUS TODAY!"*

*THIS TIME OF THE YEAR, WE SHOULD TREASURE
IT IS A DAY WHICH BRINGS SO MUCH PLEASURE
WITH SO MUCH LOVE IT IS HARD TO MEASURE
AND MOST OF ALL EVERYONE GETS A LEISURE*

*THIS CHRISTMAS DAY
WHY IS IT SO SPECIAL?
IT COULD BE BECAUSE OF JESUS
AFTER ALL IT IS HIS BIRTHDAY!*

*THE MOON IS GIVING THE PERFECT LIGHT
THE STARS ARE SHINING REALLY BRIGHT
AS WE SLEEP WE HEAR SANTA SAY
"MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL AND TO ALL A GOOD NIGHT"*
