

California's Path towards Zero Waste with California Native American Tribes:

Plastic Pollution Prevention and Packaging Producer
Responsibility Act
(SB 54) and the Beverage Container Recycling Program

You are invited to join Big Valley Band of Pomo Indians Tribe, Robinson Rancheria Pomo Indians, Native American Fiber Program, and CalRecycle, to learn about current initiatives and strategies to achieve zero waste in California.

This meeting will focus on the landmark law (SB 54) that sets the nation's strongest requirements for companies to sell less single-use plastic, shifting the plastic pollution burden from consumers to producers.

SB 54 Plastic Pollution Prevention Act will bring in $5 Billion to the state. 60% of the revenue, $225 million over 10 years will be administered to Tribal, Historically Disadvantaged, Low Income or Rural Communities.

In addition, we will share updates on the Beverage Container Recycling Program and in-person attendees will have the opportunity to tour Robinson Rancheria's Buy Back Recycling Center.
