About Senate Bill 54 and the Plastic Pollution Mitigation Fund

California's Plastic Pollution Prevention and Packaging Producer Responsibility Act (SB 54, 2022), creates an extended producer responsibility (EPR) program for packaging and single-use plastic food service ware, shifting end-of-life management from the public to producers and establishes the PPMF.

Beginning in July 2027, California will receive $500 million annually for ten years from producers of plastics through PPMF. This $5 billion investment is dedicated to repairing ecosystems, protecting public health, and prioritizing benefits for communities most impacted by pollution.
