

Breaking News, Wednesday, September 11, 2024: In a shocking turnaround, Attorney General Merrick Garland announced a sweeping investigation today into possible voting irregularities in the 2020 Presidential election. For almost four years the Department of Justice has steadfastly dismissed any lawsuits alleging voter fraud in the controversial 2020 election, ignored factual complaints highlighting the statistical impossibility of sudden late night tally reversals in select states, and never acknowledged even the slightest possibility of any impropriety. It now appears the so-called 'Big Lie' might have a little kernel of truth in it. Attorney General Garland, somehow apparently totally unaware of any problems with the 2020 election, is now saying that the integrity of our elections and the sanctity of our Constitution must be upheld at all costs. With less than two months left before the General Election in November, he stated, "I promise to make election integrity my number one priority in 2024, and I will get to the bottom of any alleged 2020 voting problems as soon as possible."

Breaking News, Monday, September 23, 2024: After almost two weeks of dizzying political headlines dominating the news, Attorney General Garland finally clarified what irregularities had recently been unearthed by his Department of Justice. Apparently, back in early 2020, two Iranian graduate students at MIT (the Massachusetts Institute of Technology) purportedly working on their thesis investigating the vulnerability of the US election process, went a step further. The two 'un-named' students, who traveled back to Tehran shortly after the 2020 Presidential election, apparently developed 'back door' access to software programs used by several voting machine companies responsible for tallying the votes in the 2020 elections. Garland hinted that the two might have manipulated the data somewhat, but not to the extent that their efforts could possibly have changed the outcome of any election.

Breaking News, Friday, October 11, 2024: At a press conference this morning, President Biden, with Attorney General Merrick Garland standing resolutely behind him, became flustered when a CNN reporter apparently went off script, asking him just how reliable these machines' algorithms could really have been when their results seemed to have tallied half votes and other percentages, along with recording vote totals well in excess of the voter rolls in most districts at the time. As Attorney General Garland abruptly stepped in, ending the press conference, several aides quickly moved the President away. Biden could be heard asking, '... half votes? What the hell is he talking about? CNN wasn't supposed to ask me anything about Al Gore... And how the hell do I know if he has rhythm...'

Breaking News, Thursday, October 31, 2024: In a somber news conference, Attorney General Merrick Garland announced that new, indisputable evidence has come to light that proves that the 2020 Presidential Election vote count was tabulated incorrectly, manipulated by foreign nationals to ensure the defeat of the then incumbent President, Donald Trump. Shockingly, with less than one week left before Election Night 2024, Joe Biden and Kamala Harris will be stepping down from the Presidency and Vice-Presidency of the United States, respectively, effective 10 AM, tomorrow morning. Happy Halloween!

Breaking News, Friday, November 1, 2024: At 10AM this morning, Joe Biden and Kamala Harris resigned, packing up and moving on out! Leaving the Capitol, they raised their hands in solidarity, vowing to beat Trump in the upcoming General Election, just four days from now. At the same time, Chief Justice of Supreme Court, John Roberts, swore in Donald J Trump as the rightful 46th President of the United States. All living ex-Presidents of the United States were in attendance, most with solemn expressions on their faces. The one exception was President Barack Hussein Obama, who was inexplicably smiling from ear to ear. No one looked sorrier than the newly reinstated Vice President, Mike Pence, whose head is reportedly already on the chopping block.

Breaking News, Saturday, November 2, 2024: Late this afternoon, saying she is tired of all the drama, Kamala Harris removed herself from the Democratic ticket for the Vice Presidency in the upcoming election. She was heard saying ‘...that old bastard ain’t never gonna die...’ Rumors are swirling that she is hoping for an Ambassadorship to India, or maybe France, under a Biden Presidency. The former First Lady, Michelle Obama, has reluctantly agreed to take Kamala’s place as a last-minute replacement on the ticket.

Breaking News, Sunday, November 3, 2024: In what has been called a ‘housekeeping formality’ today, Congress surprisingly voted unanimously to decertify the election of Joe Biden to the Presidency in 2020, and to certify Donald Trump as the rightful winner of the 2020 Presidential Election. This rare, unanimous, bipartisan vote is hopefully a sign that the corrosive political divide of our great nation might just be healing.

Breaking News, Tuesday, November 5, 2024: Election night, and the drama continues. In a surprisingly close race, it appears that Donald J Trump will win, becoming the 47th President of the United States. Joe Biden has vowed to strenuously contest the race, though as counts come in, there have been no late-night theatrics or suspicious ballot drops this time. Trump will easily surpass the 270 Electoral College votes necessary to win the Presidency.

Breaking News, Wednesday, November 6, 2024: In an almost unbelievable turn of events, the US Supreme Court has agreed to an emergency session to hear arguments concerning the constitutionality of a 'third' Trump Presidential term. Even though he will be the 46th President of the United States for only a couple of months, (until the Inauguration Day on January 20, 2025), it will mean that he would already have had two official terms. The 22nd Amendment of the US Constitution is worded as follows: No person shall be elected to the office of the President more than twice... This makes the decertification of the 2020 election a couple of days ago more than just a 'housekeeping' formality, don't it? Machiavelli much?

Breaking News, Wednesday, December 25, 2024: After five weeks of 'mostly peaceful' riots, demonstrations, and actual armed insurgencies at the Capital, the country is teetering on the brink of total anarchy. The surprising Supreme Court ruling against Trump, holding that the Constitution was crystal clear in its wording and intent regarding the number of Presidential terms allowed, ignited a nationwide firestorm. President Trump will finish his second term in less than thirty days, and then turn the reins of power over to the newly designated President-elect, Joe Biden. President Trump has not been seen for almost a week, after a third unsuccessful assassination attempt since the election. In a touching Yuletide gesture, the Democratic controlled House and Senate, along with the majority of mainstream media outlets, urged President Trump to paint a large bullseye on his back to give the assassins a better target.

Breaking News, Wednesday, January 1, 2025: As the clock ticked down on 2024, and right at 00:01 of the new year, Texas, Florida, and, incongruously, Vermont seceded from the Union in a brazen show of support for President Trump. By 6PM, all communications with Austin, Tallahassee, and Montpelier had been lost, with unconfirmed reports of multiple mushroom clouds rising in their vicinities. Concurrently, a nationwide Emergency Broadcast System announcement began airing every hour, on the hour: Resistance is futile and will be dealt with swiftly, and aggressively. All citizens are urged to immediately lay down their arms and accept the inevitable...

Breaking News, Monday, January 20, 2025: The Inaugural Celebration of Joseph Biden as 47th President of the United States was somewhat muted as sporadic gunfire still rang out in parts of Washington DC. President Biden, enjoying a mocha chocolate mint cone, reveled with the Democratic delegation, as Barak Hussein Obama began what some are calling his fourth, albeit unofficial, term. Let's see, two official terms as President starting in 2009, one shadow term with the previously 'unelected' Joe, and then possibly two more puppet master terms with Clueless Joe, followed by two almost assured terms with Big Mike... yep, that will make a total of 7 terms, or to put it more accurately, 28 years with Barak pulling the strings... Obama, unaware the microphone was still on after his inspiring comments at the event, was heard saying, 'Dumbasses...' It is unclear if he was referring to the Republican delegation or to the citizens of the United States. Former President Trump's whereabouts remain unknown.
