CULTURAL RESOURCES CONSULTING

www.brockington.org

Brockington and Associates, Inc. provides a broad spectrum of cultural resources consulting services. For the last 26 years, Brockington has been an industry leader in cultural resources management. We provide top-quality archaeological, historical, and public outreach consulting services throughout the United States and abroad. Our dedicated, knowledgeable archaeologists and historians deliver the highest-quality support to help clients meet the federal, state and local requirements that protect the nation's cultural resources and historic sites. Brockington's professional staff can identify and evaluate archaeological sites, historic buildings, and other cultural properties in accordance with current environmental laws and regulations. Our technical knowledge, innovative scoping, quality control, and responsive scheduling allow us to provide clients with best-in-the-field service. We have strong working relationships with highly qualified subcontractors, allowing a smooth transition to specialized services when required. "We hope you will join us on this adventure."
