

6 HOME BASED BUSINESSES FOR THE SAVVY PLUS SIZED

With a very minimal capital

RE-SELLING

Determine what you are passionate about or what types of followers you have in your Social Media then partner with wholesalers. The latter sets the suggested retail price. Definitely, you will need to pay an upfront capital to pay for the goods and shipping.

DIRECT-SELLING OR DISTRIBUTOR

This one is very popular and anybody can do this, provided you have the time to do so. It is a business model that involves a lot of cold calling but very little capital.

RETAIL ARBITRAGE

There's a lot of misconceptions about this business model. By law, it is not illegal as long as you resell an item with the same condition when you bought it. The capital is also very little as this is a concept of buying low and selling at a desired profit.

DROPSHIPPING

This concept is booming and the only capital you need is the monthly fee for your selling platform.

RETAIL BROKER

Do you have a knack for connecting people? Do you have connections with people in authority? Utilise that skill to connect businesses. All businesses are pushing to make money at all times and each of them needs each other's products or services in order to function. Think B2B. This goes without saying that you would need to pay for the registration fees and licences required to operate a business, even if it is home-based.

WHOLESALE

There's 2 types: the one that requires a warehouse and fulfillment by manufacturers. Since you will be operating at home you would go for the latter. You can find manufacturers these days who are willing to store your products in their warehouse and ship it out when you need them for a monthly fee. Think of the FBA (Fulfillment By Amazon) model.
