

ENVIRONMENTAL TESTING

ENVIRONMENTAL TESTING – (Mold, Asbestos, Lead) Testing of Air and/or surfaces can help with identifying contaminants that may cause short or long-term health ailments and/or elevated risk to the building's structural components. We follow the testing guidelines of a certified lab and use industry standard equipment/methods. The samples are analyzed, and a lab certified report is provided that highlights (if detected) the concern. Air testing is offered as a standalone service, or it can be combined with our standard home inspection. As a courtesy, in the event of positive testing results, upon request we can offer referrals to local companies certified in mold inspections and remediation. Please contact us for more information.
