—Colorful style of life

Historically, the classical European style has experienced the integration of classical buildings in ancient Rome and Greece, and gradually formed a stone architectural decoration style with mountain flowers, sculpture, door damage, column and other main structures. After the Renaissance, the Rococo and Baroque styles in the classical European style played an irreplaceable key role in the European architectural interior design style

A collage of images illustrating the Royal Classical style. It includes a detailed ceiling fresco with geometric and floral motifs, a roll of green fabric with a pink floral pattern, a piece of purple velvet fabric, and a white fabric with a gold-colored embroidered grid pattern featuring small green beads.
