

Summary

How do we get more out of ourselves and those people around us? The key to investing in your people is to strategically deploy the power of encouragement. It's free, easy, massively underutilized. Encouragement nurtures loyalty, trust, and job satisfaction. With Brad Montgomery's authentic and innate humor, this program brings encouragement to life, illustrating its transformative potential for personal and organizational growth.

Speaks about:

The Undeniable, Jaw-Dropping Power of Encouragement
The business strategy you cannot afford to ignore

