Recently sponsored a senior class trip to Assin Manso slave bathing river, one of many historical preservation sites in Ghana. This site attracts thousands from all over the world, namely diaspora who visit for both spiritual and ancestral significance to retrace the routes the enslaved traveled during the transatlantic slave trade.

Mikyael and Keziyah as Chiefs of Community Development spend time brainstorming ways to address issues facing the community. Much of that time is spent on the future of the community, Ohiaba's children. So far, various projects, with the help of donors have assisted with the installation of 2 on-site community boreholes, construction of a school kitchen, refurbished classrooms, institution of a self-sufficiency community garden, and solicited donations for their annual back to school kits.
