Director's Statement

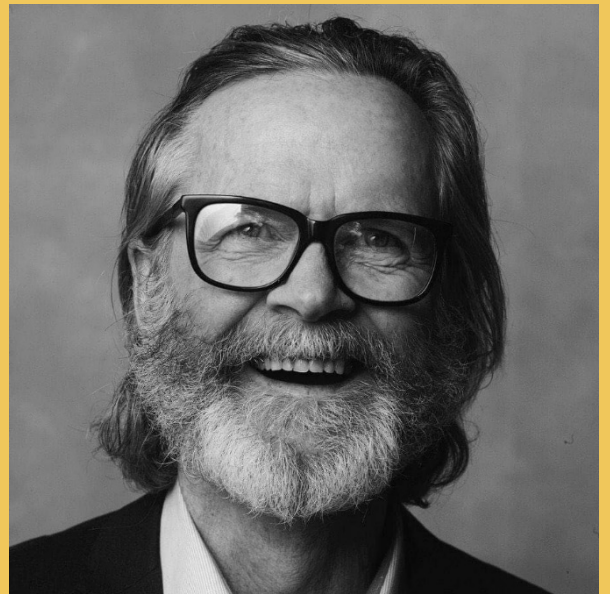

I wrote this film to spread suicide awareness and show the impact it has on their friends, family & community. It's a film close to my heart as I have been in the position, where I thought ending my life was the answer. Thankfully, I didn't follow through as I saw how devastated it made people in my life feel, knowing I felt that way. I hope that my film inspires people to reach out and have the tough conversations when they're struggling as it can help.
