

FOLA’s Northeast Regional Report for November 2021 Plenary

Much the same as the rest of the province, the Northeast is dealing with backlogs from the Pandemic, Zoom fatigue, and lingering struggles of dealing with practitioners online

Real Estate lawyers are still busier than ever in our region, but the stress of working is taking its toll. Mental health issues have never been more severe. Finding legal assistants has also become a struggle as many professions are finding it difficult to find workers.

We continue to fight for library funding and working with our Justice partners in trying to assist Northeastern lawyers where we can.

To all the members of the Northeast, and across the province, FOLA is doing great work in advocating for issues of concern. We are all looking forward to getting back to normal...and for us in the Northeast, the snow is already starting to fall.
