- The Livingston County Children Network (LCCN) is moving along. LCCN is very time consuming and they are getting to the final stages of the plan. Last week the consultants and a board member from the foundation were here to hear the plans that the committee has developed so far. They will be presenting the final plan in June. Part of the plan is to offer a summer program in Chatsworth for tutoring and classes. It will be operated in the Boys & Girls Club over there.
- Carol will be attending the ARC convention next week. She will be moderating at the conference on Tuesday morning. She will also be attending the CBHA conference on May 9th and 10th at the Double Tree in Oakbrook. This is the conference that used to be held at the Drake in December.
- The Humiston Trust donated $25,000 to the Alternative School at the request of Carol. They have donated to this agency for the 5-6 years. In February there were 66 students along with the participants at the jail. There has been an increase of adults attending. Carol is very uncertain if there will available funding from the Workforce Investment Board next year.
- The Transition Expo at the Pontiac High School went very well and there was great attendance.
