

NOT AS TERRIFYING AS IT SEEMS...

(on coronavirus nCoV – 2019 and other topics ...)

Overcoming fear is the test of humanity

Civilization, having arrived at a dead end in its "progress," is trying in vain to find the way out, acting on the suggestions of science, religion, politics, economics, and the other usual instruments and means.

These ATTEMPTS FAIL not due to the mistakes or inadequate qualifications of those offering remedies, nor to the lack of technical knowledge.

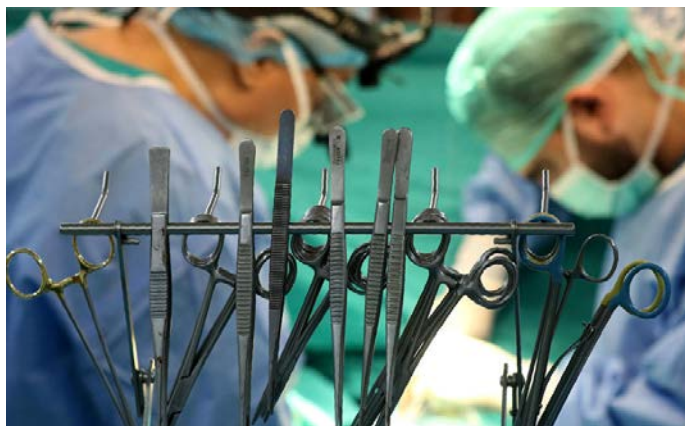

The problem is much deeper. It lies in a false materialistic worldview - an incorrect understanding of the nature of Man (even the Chinese information on acupuncture points is incomplete - the possibilities of the impact on the body are wider and constant even without acupuncture) and the surrounding world. Some scientists smash particles in accelerators, trying to "piece together" a picture of reality from fragments; others try to definitively answer why wind blows and rain falls; and the boldest of all try to explain changes taking place without understanding their source; and all of them operate from misconceptions about the purpose of human existence on the Earth.

The fundamental worldview of modern science is based on the flawed sequence of solid -> liquid -> gas -> unorganized plasma. But it must be considered in a different order: strictly organized plasma -> material structures (solid, liquid, gaseous), including not only the material ("visible") part, built on the Earth in octaves from 12 to 63 (frequencies - 2^8 - 2^{60}) but also non-material (2^{62} - 2^{512}). Atomic structures - found only in the UPPER OCTAVES (frequencies) of PLASMA, have nothing to do with the planetary model of Niels Bohr.

The ACCELERATING CHANGES in the surrounding reality - manifesting as changing climate, increasing number of natural disasters, changes in flora and fauna, epidemics of "unknown" diseases, and the increasingly obvious uselessness of strategies for combating diseases, which only yesterday seemed to be effective - are unsuccessfully TRYING TO DRAW PEOPLE'S ATTENTION to the necessity of reconsidering their views and relations with the surrounding world. It is time to stop playing the role of the “Master of Nature” on the Earth, and to find our appropriate place in it.

It is most dangerous, and can lead to a bad end, for people to IGNORE these WARNINGS. I have mentioned it repeatedly in my publications. There are two options: either change now, or lose the possibility forever. Medicine is powerless here – doctors combat not the causes of diseases, but their consequences – their knowledge of human flesh is based on the level which their scalpel can reach, and other means of examination and effect on the physical body. Man is a far more complex system, consisting of bodies of several levels (physical, etheric, astral, mental). The “diseases” of these other levels manifest themselves on the physical level, and the people in the scrubs and lab coats have no idea about the structure of these subtle bodies and do not recognize their existence.

Nobody is going to beg or persuade people to change. At a certain stage in the ongoing changes in the Life Support System, which are unavoidable and NOT UNDER HUMAN CONTROL, the chemical elements listed (albeit incompletely) in the periodic table of Mendeleev, will acquire (and are already acquiring) quite different properties (sulfur, for example, will cease to be flammable), which will force people to change their extractive and consumerist relationship with Nature.

processes it triggers off in the human body and, most importantly, in the Brain. The Coronavirus, which “suddenly appeared” in China and is spreading across the Planet, is so far a most complex and significant case, having no clear source and a virtual lack of immunity, even among those who have recovered. No one can clearly say anything about its structure, methods of spreading, the period of development in the body, what it specifically affects and what speed of its spread, wide geographical impact, method of transmission, high rate of infection, and the depth of its impact on the human body make it impossible to the create a vaccine against Covid-19 (nCoV – 2019).

All the talks and “triumphant reports” disseminated by the media, claiming to have “almost created,” or “already created,” or “already applied,” measures, against the backdrop of the enormous amount of money being requested by “scientists,” both in China and around the world, are nothing more than a fight among pharmacological corporations for the pieces of the money pie. Here is a Hint to the comprehension of the "suddenness" of the virus - a new planetary Human Life Support System.

The basis of all diseases is INFORMATION FAILURE, which leads to the breakdown of the Brain's ability to directly deliver the potentials required by the cells (640 types and up to 2484 varieties) and remove the resulting residues that can disrupt their albedo (when certain structures of the biosystem get clogged with “junk” to a total of 6.2%, the result is 100% “toxification” - which is precisely the reason for the formation of cancer cells, which then lose their connection with the Brain and begin to live “their own lives”).

The indicator of perfect health in the cell and the body is zero albedo. This is where the so-called “virus” makes the FIRST IMPACT, which at the very least leads to pulmonary pneumonia, which our “pundits” so much like to talk about, but more fundamentally - leads to the occurrence of cancer cells, and predominantly affects the gastrointestinal tract. When this became clear, and when it was clear that it would be JUST HUSHED UP due to many “circumstances,” there began a search for something to counteract these effects. I could perfectly see that there should be some “hint.” And it manifested from a most “unexpected” source.

The possibilities of adapting to the changes taking place on the Earth, to similar “suddenly arisen” epidemics, the source of which lies beyond the limits of human abilities and current scientific ideas, are based on completely different principles of comprehending what is happening in the world today.

The implementation of the results is in the New Knowledge and the practice of its application – the system of help with mumijo and the “devices” created in line with the “SvetL” Technologies. The system’s nature of the means of escape lies in the comprehensive nature of the healing effect and the strong connection of the means with the sources of control of today's processes on the Earth - the Altai 1 and Altai 2 control complexes. The “SvetL” Technologies is a kind of the “signal” distinguishing a person from the mass of the living and the only practical devices allowed by the Earth Control System to solve the problem of adapting a living cell to the changing conditions of life support on the planet.

The topic of “mumijo”¹ came about, as always “out of nowhere,” only 5 months before the start of the “epidemic” of coronavirus in China. The exploration of this substance was spurred by the search for a solution to a most complicated case of cancer for one of the people who had asked me for help. This person had already realized the hopelessness of solving this problem within the framework of “modern medicine,” having already gone through all stages and all healing protocols (including destructive chemotherapy). It was during this search that I first heard the word “mumijo.” Thus began the process of cognition in this direction.

It turned out to be most difficult to understand what exactly mumijo is, in spite of the many articles written about it on the Internet, and to reveal the connection (possibilities) of this “product” within the framework of human life support processes and exactly in what is happening today.

Even the origin of this substance, which does not belong to either inert or living (there are no others like it on the planet), is still not clear to people today. There are NUMEROUS ERRONEOUS VERSIONS of stories about it, correct only in one thing – the all around therapeutic effectiveness of mumijo, having

Mumijo (from Persian “mum” - “wax” also shilajit (Sansk. शिलाजतु, śilājatu, English Shilajit), brashun, barag-shun, mountain resin, mountain balsam, mountain wax, mountain oil, stone oil, mumiyo-asil, mummy, ciao-tun) - an organo-mineral product mainly of natural biological origin¹ bactericidal, bacteriostatic, anti-inflammatory, choleric, general strengthening, anti-allergenic, anti-stress, regenerating, resorptive and antiseptic properties.

What makes mumijo so widely functional in terms of modern science? The proportions of the elements contained in mumijo of almost the entire periodic table CORRESPOND TO THE RATIO IN THE HUMAN BODY. Scientists do not know how and why this happens, their capabilities are only enough to establish the structure of the substance: the organic part (72.28%), inorganic and water (11.9%); chemical elements of the periodic table (CaO - 1.54%, MgO - 2.31%, N - 4.95%, PO₂ - 0.36%, free radicals of organic substances, salts of Ca, Pb, Mg, Si, P, Fe, Mn, Na, Sn, Ag, Vi, Co, Va, Zn, Ba, S, Be, Cu, Mo, B). And the formulation: inorganic component - CaSi(K,Na)₅C₂₅H₅O₂₆, organic — C₆H₆O₃.

And what is it in reality? Mumijo is a natural collection of minerals formed by the combination of natural substances during the transition from the autotrophic state of being of energies to the heterotrophic one as some kind of derivative “work” of the Life Support System Complexes, being the result of the complex interaction of all these components.

Let me explain. After autotrophic processing of inert matter, a substance is derived in the form of a mineral. (This is not the original inert substance, although it consists of chemical elements and has a molecular level of dimensional scale. All the so-called chemical elements of the structure of inert matter and living matter are completely different elements. They do not coincide at all in their functional qualities, chemical charges, or energetic structures.) But this is only a kind of "preparation." The stage of autotrophic processing is chemistry, the stage of heterotrophic processing is biochemistry. That is, at the first stage, the PRIMARY CHANGE OF THE ATOMS of the inert substance takes place for the possibility of its use by heterotrophic living organisms and for the possibility of imparting to it the energetic structure characteristic of organic molecules. And all this is guided and supported by the Life Support System Complexes.

Mumijo is formed at points of increased informational concentration of fungal spores (heterotrophs), which are found at a depth of 200-250 meters (sometimes beyond) and is a colossal channel for storing and transmitting information (remember the movies Avatar and The Matrix - this information was brought to people, including through cinema, one just must be able to see it and filter out distortions) about deviations from the established stable state of being of its location. This Information is instantly transmitted through the “fungi Internet” to the Control System in much the same way as DNA molecules exchange information with each other, only in fungal spores this process is even more “subtle”.

The mechanism of mumijo’s effectiveness is based on promoting the destruction of toxins (including those that are considered to be hardly destructible or indestructible) by weakening their informational bonds at the atomic-molecular level. Harmful substances create a “mineral hole” in the body. Mumijo gradually makes up for the lack of the necessary minerals. This is one of the components in applying it against a great number of “ailments,” replacing the same amount of “modern” drugs imposed on us.

In more detail, though still incomplete, the process is as follows. Mumijo is a biological regulator that evens out electrolyte balance, eliminating both symptoms and the disease itself. After all, any non-organic (and organic) structure (including plasma) contains hydrogen atom bonds, which constitute blocks of information. Information from the hydrogen block can only be selected by substitution, i.e. one information block is replaced by another. And it is possible to weaken informational (atomic) bonds through the minerals contained in mumijo.

pH scale: acidic, alkaline, neutral

The change in pH (the negative logarithm of the hydrogen ions concentration is the saturation indicator of a living cell with potential) is a change in electric potential or magnetic impulse. Mumijo's pH is 8.2–9.6, but this complex molecular collection of heterotrophic minerals interacts best with water, dissolving well in it, forming a colloidal solution with pH 6.5–7.5. The normal pH for humans is 6.88–7.45. An aqueous (colloidal) solution of mumijo with pH 6.5–7.5 is ideal for people, indicating the most effective way of using it orally is in an aqueous solution.

But there is one subtle point – having destroyed the atomic bonds of toxins, mumijo forms stable bonds with the “fragments” of toxins through the action of the magnetic energy matter. Therefore, it needs to be helped in stimulating the removal of the destroyed toxins. Of course, it will cope with this on its own, but considering the specific task of combating coronavirus or opposing it as reliable protection, the “SvetL” programs will play this role.

If you use mumijo in the morning, then in the evening it is better to stimulate the removal of toxins from the body. Those who lack the “SvetL” Programs can do this by listening to L. Beethoven's Moonlight Sonata. It should be noted that this does not interfere with the quality of sleep, but ONLY IMPROVES it, and the person wakes up well rested in the morning.

With the beginning of changes in the life support system and during the "planned" transformations of the organism, the load on it increases even more.

Especially in relation to the system of conversion and removal of "garbage." You can only imagine how many toxins have been accumulated in our body over the years from pharmaceutical drugs alone, which are highly toxic and destroy the liver, kidneys, soft tissues, and of course, brain cells. Residues and toxins are molecules that a cell IS NOT ABLE TO DECOMPOSE, and so the detoxification process begins with there, and is carried out through drainage and excretory systems under the control of the Brain. The weak point of the excretory system is that the Brain has an integrated channel for removing a certain number of "defective" cells, and when overloaded, the waste is stored in specific places - in the so-called burial grounds – the adipose (fatty) tissue and intercellular substance. A large amount of toxins needs a large amount of storage - "problem areas" start growing, leading to the desire to "go on diet" or go in for sports. The volume of the adipose tissue increases, the volume of the adipose cells also increases due to the retention of "water." Fluid retention occurs in the intercellular substance, leading to swelling.

The effectiveness of mumijo has been tested by time - many centuries ago, for reasons beyond the control of people, the representatives of the medical field were SYSTEMATICALLY GIVEN information about the healing properties of this substance, which contributed to combating the effects of harmony distortions of the people's inner states, manifested in the form of various ailments that reduce their life span.

Aristotle, Central Asian scientist Al-Biruni, Arabian Ibn Rushd (Averroes), the medieval French pharmacist Guy de la Fontaine, Leonardo da Vinci, doctor, scientist and philosopher Ibn Sina (Avicenna) - are some of the most famous personalities in history who RECEIVED "the necessary information" about mumijo. They IMPLEMENTED IT in preparations and methods for treating bone fractures, dislocations, sore throats, asthma, suppuration of the ear and hearing loss, poisonous snake bites, stomach ulcers and diseases of heart and liver diseases, skin rejuvenation, excessive thickening of the blood. Subsequent medical practice has expanded this list to an understanding of the absolute harmlessness for humans of this natural product, that does not cause allergies, anaphylactic shock, or other side effects, that is not absorbed into the blood, and that lowers cholesterol, relieves inflammation and prevents intestinal absorption of toxic substances in infections or food poisoning, returning the digestive system to normal functioning, able to improve metabolic processes, enhances regeneration of any body tissues, when applied externally has analgesic, disinfectant and anti-inflammatory effect and solves so-called "disorders of the heart" - heart attacks, strokes, heart valve calcification and much, much more.

There is much medical knowledge hidden from public view in the research departments of space programs. It was in the Soviet space program that people once again sought out Mumijo. The substance was once again “discovered,” purified in the framework of the knowledge of local residents and used for astronauts, both before departure and after their return to the earth. The effect stunned many distinguished figures in medicine, but was hidden from people, as well as from numerous researchers interested in its medical effect and origin.

Some time ago, especially after 2012, information on healing properties of mumijo began to "come out into light." But the business of medicine of all times and stripes is the same - everything is done to increase profit. Realizing that the process of disseminating information on the benefits of mumijo cannot be stopped, modern swindlers, especially from pharmacology, began to produce a poorly cleaned initial product with diminished properties, probably due to improper processing, nevertheless, calling it “mumijo” and distributing it at low prices through pharmacy chains. Examination of the preparation distributed by them showed the purity of the substance to be 30% IN THE BEST CASES, but typically - from 3% to 6%. However, surprisingly enough, even in this percentage ratio mumijo “works” more effectively than a number of expensive preparations - chemical drugs. Although few of those sellers are interested in what substances remain in such poorly cleaned mumijo (in more than 70% cases there are substances that should not be there, starting from clay and ending with excrement of animals and birds, who love to feast on this “product”), where it is then “stored” in the body and how it affects it.

Differing in composition in various geographical points of the Earth that have their own functional endowment, the most active substance is collected in Altai, due to the fact that the Altai 1 and Altai 2 Control Complexes are in charge of the life support of people in today's conditions. Mumijo from these areas shows the most valuable (priceless) properties for improving the health of the human “vestment” (body) and Brain. The fungal spores there have a higher level of collection of minerals, forming completely different mineral models in these territories. The current level of scientific development does not make it possible to reveal such differences, operating only with the chemical composition of mumijo using spectral analysis after acid decomposition. Nevertheless, such an analysis, conducted in specialized Russian institutions, confirmed the highest quality of mumijo obtained by the Russian Science and Technology Society (RNTSO in Russia) precisely from the territories of Altai and the Urals.

With modern means, 100% pure mumijo is unattainable. This is possible only with manual processing, but the yield of pure product is just slightly over

2% of the raw product's volume. Once again, it is worth thinking about what is contained in those beautiful jars with attractive names in pharmacies and whether the producer of mumijo will ever think about its quality if the outcome is just 2% of the raw materials' total volume. And that's without taking into consideration the industrial purification of mumijo in a column extractor, in which the useful part is extracted by "microhydroshocks" of pulsating water, followed by filtration by centrifugation, clarification through a polymer membrane and drying using a rotary-film dryer. The output product is dry powder! Pressed pills! What remains useful in them is an open question.

The preservation of mumijo's healing properties obtained by RNTO members (my associates and like-minded people) is guaranteed not only by a properly selected purification method, taking into account EVEN WATER TEMPERATURE FOR WASHING, but also by a purely human factor: only by caring loving hands, with diligence and through continuous search, is the final result achieved, which takes about THREE MONTHS per batch, and includes purification of the raw material, separation from impurities using water, (the temperature of which does not exceed the temperature of the human body, preserving the healing properties), sedimentation and filtering to remove the insoluble precipitate, evaporation and drying at different temperatures (the upper limit of which is strictly limited, and specially selected porcelain and ceramic ware in artificial and natural conditions are used).

Touching mumijo, which does not correlate with either inert or living matter should be like touching something LIVING - different in time – now spreading "in a smile" through the vessel, now "menacingly" gathering into a solid crystal. Only if this condition is met can a truly effective substance for humans be obtained.

I want to remind you here about the "SvetL" Technologies - since we are considering protection against this scourge - coronavirus.

The history of the devices, created on the basis of the "SvetL" Technologies, aimed at improving people's health began in 1989, when the Great Russian scientist Nicolai Levashov had the idea of creating a device that could heal on completely new principles, not yet known to modern science or medicine. They are based on New Knowledge, knowledge obtained from the works of Nicolai Levashov, Alexander Khatybov, Anatoli Luchin and other Russian scientists. Modern science operates on 10% of matter, the rest is “dark matter”. The “SvetL” Technologies are based precisely on the knowledge of this “dark matter”.

The work begun by Nicolai Levashov with an electronic watch with a calculator, each digit of which activated a specific structure of the device that acted on certain organs or systems of the human body, continued with the search for the optimal design and carrier of a special psi-field generator and ended after Nicolai Levashov passed away by creating the “SvetL” Bioinformation Adaptive Hardware and Software Complex (and a whole group of products - SvetL Bracelet, SvetL-Flora, SvetL-K Complex, Construct Cupola-Di).

The device includes Software on a compact information carrier and the “Primary Matter” Generator created by Nicolai Levashov, who made up the practical part of the new worldview implementation, bringing revolution in humanity’s relations with one’s own organism and nature. The number of “SvetL” Programs that can be placed and applied in one Generator of the “SvetL” Complex today is 72, but it can be expanded and supplemented if necessary, depending on the region of application of the Complex.

The “SvetL” Complex harmonizes the flow of primary matters (the waves of various frequencies) which make up the Spirit (the Brain), in accordance with the current state and needs for one’s Health and Development. For this, the “SvetL” Generator creates its own - “ideal” space of “existence”, which restructures (adjusts) the space that the Spirit (the Brain) occupies and saturates it with necessary primary matters (flows of particles of magnetic and / or electrical energy). The programs laid down in the Complex determine the primary matter composition saturating the created space with the help of the Generator, as well as their properties and qualities, the forms of interaction of matters and its consequences.

An extensive database of practical application results reported by “SvetL” Complex users shows that with the beginning of its use, the first effect is the relief of the most ACUTE MANIFESTATIONS of ailments and conditions. Uncomfortable sensations in the body go away, and the accompanying pains decrease immediately or over time, and eventually disappear altogether. The work of the immune system improves, as well as sleep (the feeling of being well rested even with a shorter period of sleep), improved adsorption of food consumed brings about a natural decrease in its amount, the number of meals a day cuts down to two times (sometimes less and without consequences), increased rejection of harmful substances, and improved stability of the human psychological state. Only this Technology can be an “impenetrable” defense against such “viruses” and disasters.

The “SvetL” technologies really help humanity in this difficult transitional period, both in terms of the state of the body and the move to a different worldview, known today as materialistic idealism, and in gaining the ability to synthesize the reality of their own existence, guided by their own knowledge and their ideas about the world, which allow one, at a certain level of development of the Spirit (the Brain) to influence objects and reality with directed intention, and to pass through the phases of individual evolution at an accelerated rate. Already, even today, with correct use of the “SvetL” Programs through the higher octaves of the Brain, it is possible to prolong life up to 124 years (and with the octave of at least 82, biological life can be prolonged up to 250 years).

After their activation, devices created on the basis of the “SvetL” Technologies look for cells with excess potential in a person, and help the Brain to connect the channels for removal and regaining of control of the “disconnected” cells, expand the corridor of the Brain’s capabilities, clear cells and intercellular space of toxins and restore the pathways for undistorted communication of information. “SvetL” Technologies recover the Spirit (the Brain), using and activating its own resources, and only in some special cases do they “deliver” the required “native” potentials to the cells “from outside.” Mumijo comes to the rescue here, since its minerals weaken the informational bonds of toxins at the atomic-molecular level, as a result of which they become unstable and their structure collapses. But that is only a partial view. The main thing is interaction with the Brain and its “direct” feeding. In the past it was in the framework of the “Development of the Brain Genotypes” and “Development of the Energy Biogenesis of the Flesh Cells” Programs, nowadays it is help to the Brain to adapt to transient changes within the framework of the Human Life Support System. Today the task is to recreate Humanity that is getting integrated into the future. The process of Man’s Mind development and perfection is very important for the planet’s own Mind development.

Thus, WITH THE COMPLEX APPLICATION of the “SvetL” Technologies and mumijo an INTERACTING HARMONIOUS SYSTEM is created to help man recover and develop – a unique system, having no analogues today, which cannot be copied without the author’s participation. This is exactly the most effective protection against the coronavirus nCoV – 2019, and other similar “troubles” that await humanity on the way to its reconstruction.

The “SvetL” devices, as well as mumiyo, have already been in demand among many people especially in today’s conditions. They are popular among those who have begun to realize the importance of developing their Spirit (the Brain), and the possibility of real health improvement as opposed to the attempts of orthodox medicine, whose representatives for the most part are not yet able to realize the mechanisms of harmless assistance to the body due to their rigid outlook. Or just because of the fact that medicine today is a profitable business, where “the more sick the man, the richer the doctor,” to whom the sick will bring all his money in order to save his life.

In these dangerous days of the spread of coronavirus and escalation of hysteria by all possible means by all those who still think of themselves as “masters of the world,” true resistance can be put in three points:

1. Prevention of nCoV – 2019 coronavirus and all possible people’s ailments IS AVAILABLE – IT IS MUMIJO OF THE HIGHEST PURITY and created only in Russia using specially developed technology.

2. Protection from coronavirus and all existing detrimental impacts on the Human body from outside, including the already developed Telecommunication standard of the new generation 5-G IS AVAILABLE - THEY ARE THE “SVETL” PROGRAMS in any form of their application.

3. For the people who have already been infected with the virus - the above mumiyo and the “SvetL” Program in combined use.

Today, Man still has a CHOICE and it is YOURS to make!
