

23rd ANNUAL CATAWBA VALLEY POTTERY & ANTIQUES FESTIVAL MARCH 27-28, 2020

A presentation of the Historical Association of Catawba County and North Carolina Pottery Center
Catawba Valley Pottery Festival, P. O. Box 2583, Hickory, North Carolina 28603

Planning Committee: September 20, 2019

Steve Abee Dear Exhibitor,

Chad Alley The Historical Association of Catawba County (HACC) and the North Carolina Pottery Center are hosting the 23rd Annual Catawba Valley Pottery & Antiques Festival (CVPAF) on Friday, March 27 and Saturday, March 28, 2020 at the Hickory Metro Convention Center in Hickory, North Carolina. Friday evening will consist of a special Preview Party and an early sales opportunity from 7:00 pm – 10:00 pm. The Saturday show will welcome the public from 9:00 am – 5:00 pm. The goal of the CVPAF is to bring together traditional potters and dealers to create a quality show that will celebrate our region's pottery heritage, one of North Carolina's most treasured cultural resources. The mission of the CVPAF is to foster an educational event where the public may learn about traditional North Carolina pottery, within the wider context of Southern pottery, and to provide an opportunity to purchase, collect, and study this unique cultural resource through contact with working potters and knowledgeable pottery dealers.

Last year's festival was a tremendous success, with a target audience of 3,300 guests from North Carolina and 15 other states that eagerly traveled to Hickory to purchase pottery and antiques. Seventy percent (70%) of last year's exhibitors have pre-registered for the 2020 event. Last year's Friday night Preview Party hosted 550 guests. The CVPAF audience is drawn from a large group of pottery enthusiasts and individuals interested in this unique North Carolina and Southern treasure.

This year's CVPAF will continue to nurture educational programming to enhance our visitors' experience, as an educated guest is better suited to appreciate and purchase pottery. The CVPAF planning committee is planning a number of activities for the 2020 show, including pottery demonstrations and an exhibition entitled "Daniel Johnston: Single Pots to Clay Walls" with a lecture by Daniel Johnston, potter from Seagrove community with installations around the country, and Dr. Henry Glassie, professor and expert from Indiana University.

Exhibitor spaces of 10ft x 10ft are currently available. Discounted booth rates are available with receipt of application and check or money order (postmarked on or before October 17, 2019): $315.00 per 10ft x 10ft booth and $545.00 per 10ft x 20ft booth. Prompt registration will ensure that your business will be listed in marketing and advertising efforts. The rate for late registration (postmarked on or after October 18, 2019) is $355.00 per 10ft x 10ft booth and $575.00 per 10ft by 20ft booth. The final deadline is December 4, 2019.

2020 CATAWBA VALLEY POTTERY FESTIVAL

Mission Statement

The mission of the Catawba Valley Pottery Festival is to foster an educational event where the public can learn about traditional North Carolina pottery and the wider context of Southern pottery and provide an opportunity to purchase, collect, and study this unique cultural resource through contact with working potters and knowledgeable dealers of antique pottery.

While we affirm the principle of artistic freedom, the Catawba Valley Pottery & Antiques Festival Planning Committee does not condone the creation of objects that demean cultural groups and further advises all exhibitors not to bring merchandise that caricatures or disparages others.

The Planning Committee of the CVPAF maintains the right to choose for participation the exhibitors that best fulfill the Festival's goals for an attractive and diverse show within its stated mission. Please include this form with your application. Any applicant not chosen will have their fee returned in full.
