Biography

Margie Dunki-Jacobs is a Certified International Inspirational Keynote Speaker, Bestselling Author, Peak Performance Success Coach and a Working Capital Funding CEO Partner helping small businesses and entrepreneurs in the U.S. get funding to grow their businesses.

With growth and contribution as her mission, Margie demonstrates honesty and integrity at its highest level. She is compassionate, kind and fair and values a strong, ethical culture by modeling the UN's values and ethical standards. Margie has a dedicated commitment to empowering girls and women of all backgrounds, religion, race, age, gender and cultural differences to live their lives at their fullest potential. In 2017, she started her Coaching Empowerment Company, Breathing Forward, LLC, to remind a sisterhood of women globally that if we can breathe and move forward, we are helping to uplift the world, but we must start within ourselves. We must find that inner belief and connect it to our vision for this world. She coaches, guides, encourages and supports women to step into leadership roles so that they can participate in a way that not only benefits them but their surrounding communities by contributing their gifts of experience, wisdom and influence. Leaders build leaders, and leaders influence worldwide peace. All girls and women get to feel peace as they shut their eyes at night, envisioning a world of hope. They get to feel safe to freely pursue education, entrepreneurship, careers and jobs that will support their families, and they get to stand up and use their voices in confidence with strength and conviction, living a life free of violence and patronizing perceived superiority. All girls and all women get to have choice!

Margie is a contributing author in the Bestselling book, Engaging Speakers, Voices of Truth, and her chapter, "Stand Up. Speak Your Truth" encourages women to take a stand for themselves, to take responsibility for their lives, to not be afraid to speak up, to be an active participant in their own resilience, grit and inner happiness and to make this life that they have been blessed with an extraordinary life.

An undeniably positive optimism and a strategic growth plan based on the needs of the women she connects with worldwide, she has created an all-powerful foundation for her guided coaching, women's retreats, workshops, webinars and trainings.

Having connected with women in impoverished villages in Uganda, Margie knows firsthand of the struggles girls and women face on a daily basis, with starvation being the most urgent need. She's been able to raise hundreds of dollars to help send food and supplies but is looking to take this to a monumental level of support so that these villages thrive with continuous supplies of food and resources for years to come. These women want to work! They want to participate, and they are open and willing to learn.

We must combine efforts to bring together our collective resources in order to have a greater and sustainable impact of good to provide basic human rights and needs and beyond.
