Open, honest communication with your children is the first step in protecting them. Explain, listen, & agree on ground rules.

Frequently check your children's gaming & electronic devices.

Monitoring your children is not an invasion of their privacy; it's a non-negotiable safety precaution.

What is Grooming?

Manipulation tactics predators use to gain the victim's trust in order to exploit & abuse them while reducing their risk of being caught.

Parents, it's your responsibility to protect your children!

- Talk to your children.
 - Listen.
- Observe their behavior. Has it changed recently? Why?
- Monitor their internet usage, apps, messaging & the photos & videos they send & receive.
 - Get to know their friends, classmates, teachers, coaches & their friend's parents & households.
 - Explain these complicated concepts in an age-appropriate way.
 - Teach them how to protect themselves.
