

Remove ads

FLOODS

All 27 missing Camp Mystic campers confirmed dead after historic flooding in central Texas

By Rishav Kothari Monday, July 7, 2025

 Follow us on Google News

All 27 individuals previously reported missing from Camp Mystic were confirmed dead on July 7, 2025, following historic floods that affected central Texas on July 4. The overall death toll has reached 90, with search and rescue operations still ongoing across the region.

Local authorities working to clear out flood damage in central Texas following historic floods on July 4, 2025. Credit: Texas DPS

Camp Mystic confirmed that all 27 individuals reported missing from the camp have died following the floods that struck central Texas on July 4. The overall death toll from the floods has now reached 90, including at least 28 children.

“Our hearts are broken alongside our families that are enduring this unimaginable tragedy. We are praying for them constantly,” a statement on the camp website read.

The statement added that the search continued for missing individuals and requested, “We ask for your continued prayers, respect, and privacy for each of our families affected.”