WLYC 24 Hour Race 2024 Volunteer Duty Roles

Role:	Race Officer
Shifts:	8.5 hours	11.30 – 20.00	19.45 – 04.15	04.00 – 12.30
	All AROs should be available from 09.00 until the start is completed; then 3 shifts of 8 hours. The final shift will not finish until all is ready for prizegiving.
WLYC volunteers:	3 AROs
Club volunteers:	3 AROs
Responsibility:	To support the PROs in the conduct the race and the races within the race.
Duties:	In collaboration with the PRO and the WLYC AROs:
	1. Ensure the Race Officer’s schedule (which sets out a timetable for race events) is followed, including, before the start, checking the necessary equipment is in place, and the starting lines and holding lines in position and manned.
	2. Implement the starting procedure.
	3. Monitor the race in progress and arrange for deployment of E and F marks as required.
	4. Deal with queries from competitors and generally act as a buffer between competitors and scoring.
	5. Receive protests, inform protestees and arrange hearings.
6. Generally take the necessary action, in collaboration with other departments especially safety and scrutineering, to ensure the race proceeds as fairly and safely as possible.
References	Please refer to Sailing Instructions for further detail.
Briefing	There will be online briefing before the event and a further short briefing at 09.00 am on the morning of the race.
Expectations:	Provide your mobile number – we may need to contact you.
	An ARO should be an experienced dinghy racer, with experience as a race officer, conversant with the Notice of Race and Sailing Instructions and not a 2024 competitor. Up to the start, duties may be in the race office or outside, probably on the water, when a buoyancy aid should be worn. After the start, the AROs generally spend most of their time in the race office. Note that during the night, when the Information Centre is closed, the Race Office becomes the centre for communication.
Leaders:	Imogen Gibb and Mike Butterfield
