

In Memorial

Losing friends is one of life's most difficult challenges.

We may lose them to death, we may lose them to distance, and we may lose them over time.

But even though they may be lost, the memories and their smiles always remain.

The key is to keep them in your heart, and when the time is right pick them up right where you left off.

Even the lost can find their way back to you, when you leave the light in your heart on. (Amy Marie Waltz)
