OBJECTIVES OF IAEES

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF
ENVIRONMENTALISTS AND ECO-SOCIALISTS

FOR SUSTAINABILITY

IAEES is a non-profit think tank dedicated to making the world a better place for people and the environment. IAEES is a one-of-a-kind network that brings together environmental, social, and ecological sciences. Our work straddles the line between conservation and development. The prime objectives are,

- Providing knowledge and expertise, as well as advocating for policies and actions that balance environmental conservation with critical socioeconomic and cultural concerns of human communities, such as livelihoods, human rights and responsibilities, human development, security, equity, and the fair and effective management of natural resources.
- Natural and social scientists, environmental and economic policy experts, and community-based conservation practitioners from the IAEES provide vital resources to meet the challenges of twenty-first-century nature and natural resource conservation, as well as the goal of securing a sustainable future.

OBJECTIVES OF IAECT

BEIL's registered trademark (R) is IAECT. We see ourselves as a shared platform with a unique but important role to play in supporting good, long-term, and socioeconomically inclusive education and training.

- Our goal is to serve as a common platform for experts from all sectors of academics as well as the training business to collaborate and foster long-term, socioeconomically inclusive education and training.
- By creating networking opportunities, educators and/or trainers will be able to engage more effectively.
- Make it possible for educators and trainers to share information and ideas in a seamless manner.
- Use self-paced education and training modules that allow all to progress at their own speed
- Provide global learning opportunities they can complete while carving their path in their professional pursuit

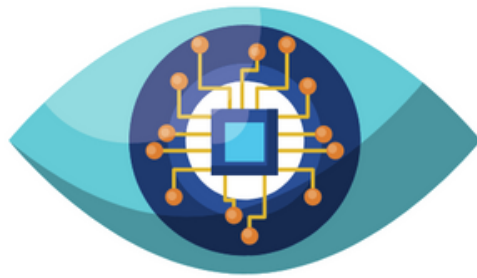

OBJECTIVES OF IAST

BEIL's registered trademark (TM) is IAST. The organisation is dedicated to supporting global scientific and technological achievements. It puts on multidisciplinary conferences for academics and professionals in science, engineering, technology, management, and education.

- Within its areas of competence, the goal is to stimulate multidisciplinary research using cutting-edge approaches and technology.
- We bring together scientists, researchers, students, and academics from across the world who endeavour to improve the state of human civilization via their ideas and research potential in science and technology.
- Successfully collaborating to create deep bonds with academics, scientists, researchers, and industrial practitioners.
- To provide a platform for researchers to publish their opinion and undertake independent study in the fields of science, electronics, technology, management, and other fields.

OBJECTIVES OF IADOE

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF DISTANCE AND ONLINE EDUCATION (IADOE)

IADOE promotes open, distance, and online learning excellence by providing a voluntary system of validation and recognition for course providers around the world. It fosters international excellence in open, distant, and online learning and serves as a benchmark for global learners to assess the quality of courses offered by our members. The goals are to

- To raise awareness of the value of open, remote, flexible, and online education by incorporating e-learning into educational policy.
- To assist in the creation of innovative approaches and technology.
- To make it easier for members to collaborate and network.
- To improve membership and governance, as well as to include members in collaborative activities and organisational growth.

OBJECTIVES OF IASST

INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF SOFT SKILLS TRAINERS (IASST)

The organisation is for those who desire to work as an independent soft skills trainer, career counsellor, academic consultant, or soft skills mentor, or who want to start their own soft skills training school or institute. The prime objectives are,

- On a global scale, creating remarkable training programmes with a high impact factor and professional ethics.
- For Soft Skills and related subjects consultant projects, we assist participants in writing effective business communication and drafting business reports.
- To become self-assured individuals who can effectively manage work stress, master interpersonal skills, team management skills, and leadership talents.
- Creating a global platform through professional membership in the "International Association Soft Skills Trainers" and exchanging consulting assignments among registered members.

OBJECTIVES OF AIQACP

ASSOCIATION OF IQAC PROFESSIONALS

The Association of International Quality Assurance Certified (IQAC) Professionals is dedicated to building new standards in education and administration, as well as establishing new standards in accordance with Industry 4.0 and statutory requirements. We work together to certify professionals who satisfy worldwide quality standards for service innovation and portfolio enhancement. Our objectives are,

- Creating a global forum for quality assurance practitioners to develop next-generation quality management systems that meet industry and academic standards
- To encourage enterprises and individuals to use new methods / IoT in order to improve quality and excellence.
- To recognise and inspire others by recognising and recognising their successes and efforts in achieving a high level of quality and perfection.
- Providing professional recognition to strengthen a association's reputation and motivate members to strive for excellence.
