Autistic Haus

Design Competition

Designing the future of housing, together.

Autistic Haus is pioneering a new standard for inclusive living. This project invites autistic individuals to share their vision, lived experiences, and creative concepts to directly shape and influence the design of future homes built specifically for our community.

The Autistic Haus Design Competition is open to any and all autistic people. It is not about artistic talent; it is about your voice, regardless of how you communicate. Entries can be submitted in almost any format for expression and accessibility, including drawings, digital designs, text descriptions, and pictures from a Blender design.

What Does Home Mean to You?

This competition is about discovering what you actually want and need in your living space. Consider the following when shaping your ideas:

What works for you?
What really doesn’t work for you?
What do you need to consider with your co-occurring condition?
What has worked in the past, or what do you dream about having access to when you’re home?

JUDGING & PRIZES

Entries will be judged by your autistic peers on initiative, accessibility and solutions grounded in lived experience.
1 winner: $100 prize • 2 runners up: $50 gift cards each (AUD value)

Entries open December 18th—find the form here.
